Plans underway for living and learning community at Birkelo Hall

Renovation and exciting plans are underway for the Birkelo Hall residence hall. The new and improved facility will re-open in the fall of 2017 as a living and learning community that will encourage high-achieving first-year students to become a part of the Mayville State family. These are students who have a focus on excellence both in and out of the classroom. Rent for students accepted into the new living and learning community will be half-price.

Dr. Gary Hagen, Mayville State University President.

Intentional living and learning communities

Intentional living and learning communities are wellresearched, impactful programs that allow students opportunities to expand their education outside the classroom and fully engage the students in their learning process.

"Study-Learn-Grow-Birkelo"

To be considered for the "Study-Learn-Grow-Birkelo" program, a prospective student must:

- be full-time, on-campus first-year students;
- have an ACT score of 22 or higher (or SAT equivalent);
- have a grade point average of 3.25 or higher.

The students must commit to excellence in the classroom; attending, planning, and working at on-campus activities, as well as participate in other opportunities for involvement; in a residential space intended to foster scholarship, active discussion, and friendships.

Applicants will be considered on a first-come, first-served basis, as space is available. Transfer students and upperclassmen may be considered at the discretion of the Director of

The history of Birkelo Hall

The original Birkelo Hall, which now houses the Mayville State University Child Development Programs, opened in 1957. The dormitory was built to accommodate 60 men. Faculty and administration decided the new facility should be named for someone who had served the college in an exceptional way. Longtime professor C.P. Birkelo was chosen for the honor, and a formal dedication was held Oct. 12, 1957.

A new addition, larger than the original structure and having the capacity to house 80 men, was built during the administration of President Jenkins. It was ready for occupancy in the fall of 1964. The ground level of this building now houses the administrative offices of the MSU Child Development Programs. The top two floors of the building will now house men and women in the proposed Birkelo learning and living community.

Student Life and/or Vice President for Student Affairs.

Students who are selected for the Birkelo Living and Learning program will be eligible for incentives, which include an on-campus housing credit valued at 50% of a doubleoccupancy rate, or about $1,100. This award will be annually renewable if the student maintains a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 or higher; and is actively involved on campus. The individual must remain a residential, on-campus student in good standing with the University.

Renovation

Not much has changed at Birkelo Hall since the facility opened in the 1960s. It's time to make some much-needed improvements. Campus personnel are busy sprucing up the rooms at Birkelo Hall "as we speak." The walls are being treated to create a more home-like feel. Fresh paint and window treatments are a part of the plan. New desks and beds are being purchased, and when all is said and done, the building will provide a lovely new place for our best and brightest to live and learn.

Birkelo Reborn: Memories to Legacies

Are you interested in sponsoring a room or study area in the new and improved Birkelo Hall? Perhaps you were a resident of the facility "back in the day." Here's your chance to sponsor a room and have your name remembered forever at Birkelo Hall. Did you and your buddies share a corner room? Maybe you'd like to get together and sponsor the room together. The price tag on this transformation of Birkelo Hall is about $90,000. By sponsoring, you're giving much-needed assistance to your alma mater, and you'll be creating a legacy.

For more information about how you can get involved, please contact John Klocke at 701-788-4787 or john.j.klocke@ mayvillestate.edu. You can see the details at www.mayvillestate.edu/birkeloreborn.

Come visit us!

The renovation of Birkelo Hallis another important piece in the transformation of the Mayville State University campus. Over the last several years, nearly every inch of the campus has been updated or expanded in some way. We're very proud of the wonderful improvements and the safe and beautiful environment in which our students are learning. If you haven't been to campus in a while, I encourage you to do so. Alumni Day on June 23 would be a great time to take a campus tour, see the great campus improvements, and check in on the progress at Birkelo Hall. Thank you for all you do to support our beloved Mayville State University.

With sincere gratitude,

Dr. Gary Hagen, President

Near-space balloon launch yields amazing photos and data

Mayville State University faculty, staff, and students teamed up with students and faculty from Bismarck State College for a successful nearspace balloon launch Saturday, Sept. 10, 2016. Those involved were up bright and early that morning as they prepared for a target 7 a.m. launch from the parking lot northwest of

The payload included a camera and GPS tracking equipment.

Old Main. Four Mayville State students held the balloon and payload until all was in order. Then the approximately 6-footin-diameter helium-filled balloon and attached payload were released. It quickly ascended high above Mayville, heading in the direction of Blanchard, N.D.

Dr. Tony Musumba, associate professor of physics at Bismarck State, and Dr. Aaron Kingsbury, assistant professor of geography at Mayville State, headed up the project, which began long before launch day, as preparations were made. Among the things that needed to be done was to get permission from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA). A balloon like this has the potential to be a hazard to aircraft. It was important that everything be in order.

What is involved in a near-space balloon launch?

The equipment includes a helium-filled balloon, which is about 6 feet in diameter on the ground, but swells to a much larger size in the very low pressure of near-space. The balloon, which eventually bursts, is equipped with a camera and data sensors, and the attached parachute helps the payload package return to earth safely. The whole process of ascent and return to earth takes two or three hours. The payload is tracked with GPS so that participants can retrieve it when it reaches the ground and later analyze the data captured.

Mayville State's first near-space balloon launch

There was an excellent turnout of students, staff, faculty, and others on launch day. Under perfect weather conditions the launch went smoothly. After the balloon began its ascent, several participants got into vehicles and caravaned across eastern

North Dakota and western Minnesota trying to calculate/ predict where the payload would descend. The balloon reached an altitude of 97,000 feet, which is nearspace, before it burst. The payload descended north of Hawley, Minn. in an enormous unharvested field of corn. At that point, the GPS tracking device in the payload went silent. Rotten luck! The group spent many hours combing the field, but the payload was not recovered. Although labeled with contact information, project leaders did not think it would survive the combine at harvest time. Obviously, losing a payload is never ideal, but it is a risk inherent in ballooning. Thankfully, the payload was later located using different technologies by the very experienced ballooner Mike Holman, an associate professor of electronics at Bismarck State College.

This photo shows the balloon bursting when it reached 97,000 feet. Note the orange parachute that helped the payload reach the ground safely.

Mayville State student involvement

High-altitude ballooning has a long history in facilitating scientific discovery in fields such as atmospheric science, meteorology, physics, chemistry, and remote sensing. It can also be a powerful motivational tool for students in K-12 STEM education. For this reason, three teacher education classes of MSU Associate Professor of Science Jeff Sieg worked with the project, along with local K-12 teachers.

When the data was collected from the high-altitude balloon payload, more Mayville State students had the opportunity to be involved with additional side projects.

Study abroad experiences are life-changing for MSU students

Mayville State University students have the amazing opportunity to study at the American College of Norway (ACN), a small institution located south of Oslo, in the town of Moss.

Students from all over the world attend ACN, making it a perfect low-stress international experience. Courses are taught in English, primarily by American university professors, and they fulfill Mayville State's essential studies requirements. In addition, students who study at ACN may transfer to Mayville State, so there is a possibility for Mayville State students to continue their international friendships.

Dr. Sarah Anderson, MSU assistant professor of education and co-chair of the MSU Diversity committee, has spearheaded this study-abroad opportunity using connections she made prior to arriving at Mayville State in 2012. In January of 2016, Krista Lauritzen, ACN director, visited Mayville State and began conversations about developing an affiliate partner agreement between MSU and the ACN. This agreement allows students to attend a semester of college abroad at an affordable price.

Six MSU students to do research in Japan

Mayville State University professors Aaron Kingsbury and Lonamalia Parsons Smith and their students have been awarded a $40,000 "ASIANetwork Freeman Student-Faculty Fellows" (SFF) grant to conduct research in Japan from May 13 to June 14, 2017. The project is "The future of the back roads and little farm towns in an urbanizing Asia: A case in study exploring cultural change in the rural communities of Yamanashi Prefecture, Japan." Mayville State's proposal was one of seven funded in 2017. The students will investigate the culture and people of smaller and less-studied Japanese communities.

Students on the research team with Kingsbury and Parsons Smith are Cherokee Durant, Devils Lake, N.D.; Cheyenne Durant, Devils Lake, N.D.; Ingrid Hefta, Mayville, N.D.; Megan Maassel, Fargo, N.D.; Nicholas Peterson, Rutland, N.D.; and Donte Stevens, Opa-Locka, Fla.

See details at www.mayvillestate.edu/japan.

Two Mayville State students, Bethany Larson from Grafton, N.D, and Jeannette Sevigny from Grand Forks, N.D., took advantage of the opportunity and studied at ACN last fall. Both found to it be a wonderful, life-changing experience.

Bethany said, "This amazing experience has made me want everybody at Mayville State to go to Norway. I am excited for my future career as a teacher and I look forward to incorporating global perspectives into my future students' learning. Going to the American College of Norway has been one of the best decisions I have made in my life. I was not only able to find myself, but also experience life in a whole different culture."

Reflecting on her experiences, Jeannette said, "I benefitted a lot from studying abroad and experienced many first-time events: going to an airport for the first time and leaving the United States for the first time. I got the chance to be independent from my family. These new experiences have changed me for the better and made me a more confident woman. These experiences will help me to be a better student while preparing to become a teacher. I encourage anyone to study abroad. It will make you a whole new person. I have grown as a person and my eyes have been opened to a world I never knew before."

While affordable, there are financial barriers to studying abroad, particularly for underrepresented students. These barriers include travel to and within Norway, immigration visa fees, passport fees, and other incidentals that come with relocation.

Please consider a Norwegian Heritage Gift to our Norway-bound students. Students who have a financial need and who desire to broaden their knowledge through the ACN will submit an essay and application to be considered for a stipend. Your tax-deductible gift could help one or more students to realize the dream of studying abroad in Norway, the homeland of many here in Mayville and around the country!

For more information on how you can help, please contact John J. Klocke, MSU Foundation executive director, at 701-788-4787 or john.j.klocke@mayvillestate.edu or go to www.mayvillestate.edu/studyabroad.

Ogburn, Gonnella present research at international meeting

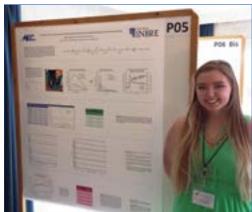

MSU Professor of Chemistry Dr. Thomas Gonnella and his student, Katelyn Ogburn ('17), presented their work at the 18th International Workshop on the Enzymology and Molecular Biology of Carbonyl Metabolism. The meeting was held in Sant Feliu de Guixols (Costa Brava, Spain), near Barcelona, from July 12 to 17, 2016.

Gonnella presented the work he has done with former Mayville State students and now graduates, Hannah Ness ('16), and Joseph Biggane ('14). The team of Gonnella, Ness, and Biggane studied ALDH2, an enzyme found in cells that fends off oxidative stress by helping to eliminate reactive oxygen species. This work is supported by an Institutional Development Award (IDeA) from the National Institute of General Medical Sciences of the National Institutes of Health and the National Institute of General Medicine (NIGMS).

Katelyn Ogburn presented the work on which she has collaborated with Thomas Gonnella and Wyatt Russell, ('14), a former Mayville State student and now graduate. Katelyn's poster presentation focused on a more comprehensive look at the influence the magnesium ion has on the ALDH2 activity toward a wide variety of simple class of reactive oxygen species found in cells. In his oral presentation, Gonnella focused on the similar topic with an ALDH2 activator introduced. Their work is supported by an Institutional Development Award from the National Institute of General Medical Sciences of the National Institutes of Health.

Jason Kiesau, author and motivational speaker from Iowa, was the keynote speaker for the fourth annual Larson Leadership Program leadership summit held at MSU Feb. 28. Kiesau also led a couple of breakout sessions, as did 1991 Mayville State graduate Dawn Cruff. The word of the day was "focus," professional, and leadership development for most of his adult life. He travels across the country working with leaders in the areas of self-management, relationship building, strategic thinking, and creating high-performing teams. Jason's purpose is to inspire confidence in everyone with whom he works, and he is passionate about helping these people pursue and achieve meaningful results.

Kiesau's most recent book, "Focused: Your Future Starts Now!" was featured during the summit. Copies of the book were distributed to summit participants.

Dawn's Cruff's break-out session was a spinoff of her involvement as a player on the Comets basketball team when she was a student. In her "Full Court Press" presentation, she likened the skills that are helpful in becoming a successful leader to a game plan. She stressed the importance of networking and being organized, skills she learned as a college student. She also highlighted the significance of having mentors, in addition to maintaining balance and giving back to your community as a way to show your appreciation for those who have helped you.

Cruff has had an impressive career in real estate, specializing in both existing and new home construction in the Fargo-Moorhead area. Guiding clients throughout the buying and selling process, she keeps their best interests a top priority. A member of the Mayville State Athletic Hall of Fame, as well as a recipient of the MSU Distinguished Alumni Award, she continues to stay connected to her alma mater, supporting the university in a number of ways.

Berry inducted into ABCA Hall of Fame

MSU head baseball coach G. Scott Berry has been inducted into the American Baseball Coaches Association (ABCA) Hall of Fame, the highest honor bestowed by the organization. The 10-member 2017 class was honored in a ceremony held Jan. 6, 2017 at the ABCA/ Diamond Hall of Fame/Coach of the Year Banquet at the Scott Berry was one of the six active NAIA coaches who eclipsed the 1,000win mark during the 2016 season. The 2014 ABCA president and 1978 MSU graduate took over as head coach at Mayville State in 1982. He has grown the program into an NAIA powerhouse.

ABCA Convention in Anaheim, Calif.

Under Berry's guidance, the Comets have won 23 regular-season conference championships, including 17 consecutive titles from 1986 to 2002. Additionally, the Comets have collected 21 conference tournament championships and have appeared in the NAIA national playoffs 26 times, including in 2016. In those 26 appearances, Berry's teams have won three NAIA regional titles, the 2002 Plains Super Regional title, and had a top-five finish at the NAIA World Series.

Prior to the 2016-17 season, Berry's career record as head coach stood at 1,012-573-1, good for a .683 winning percentage. He ranks fifth among active NAIA coaches in career wins despite the fact that more than 75% of the games in his career have been played away from Mayville State's Scott Berry Field, which was named in his honor in 2010.

Berry has been named as Conference Coach of the Year 23 times, District 12 Coach of the Year nine times, and NAIA Region Coach of the Year four times, and he has coached 35 NAIA scholar-athletes, 25 NAIA All-Americans, and 22 players who have signed professional contracts.

An active participant in local, state, and national baseball organizations, Berry has been heavily involved with the ABCA for four decades. In addition to serving as ABCA president in 2014, he serves on the ABCA's Board of Directors and Nominations Committee. Berry has also been involved in the North Dakota Baseball Coaches Association, North Dakota Amateur Baseball Coaches Association, North Dakota College Athletic Conference, and USA Baseball.

He was previously inducted into the Mayville State University Athletic Hall of Fame, the NAIA Hall of Fame for Baseball, the North Dakota Amateur Baseball Association Hall of Fame, and the Christian Sports Commission Hall of Fame. He has also received the North Dakota Associated Press Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association "Special Achievement Award," the NAIA Robert E. Smith Achievement Award, and the FCA Jerry Kindall Character in Coaching Award.

Softball

The Comets' softball team has just opened their conference slate and took three of four games against the Valley City Vikings. As of late March, this brings their overall record to 10-12 and 4-4 in the North Star Athletic Association. The Vikings were picked to finish 2nd in the NSAA this season and received some votes in the preseason Top 25 poll, which made these wins even more important.

Mayville State was able to start their season in late February at the Dome at Presentation College. The Comets traveled to South Dakota on consecutive weekends to get in some early games. Transitioning from the gym to game situations took a few games, as the Comets only picked up one win in their first eight contests. However, valuable experience and repetitions showed on their annual spring-break trip to Arizona. The Comets got in 10 games, grabbing six wins and some needed momentum.

To date, the Comets are in the top half of virtually every category. The biggest improvement has been defensively, as the Comets went from ninth in the conference in 2016 to leading the conference in Fielding Percentage. This year the Comets' defense is doing a fantastic job of limiting an opponent's extra outs. Offensively the Comets are sitting in fourth place in most offensive categories and right in the middle of the pack in the pitching department.

Individually, Kaitlyn Kuntz, Breeana Martinez, and Lauren Coronado have played error-free this season, putting them atop the Fielding Percentage list. Pitching-wise, Haley Kravetz is leading the NSAA in innings pitched/game, averaging a robust 6.1 innings per outing. Shaye Kemball is in the top 10 in every pitching category, with a 3.70 ERA and 62 strikeouts in 77 innings pitched. Kemball has six victories and two saves on the year. On offense, Nina Gurgian is fifth in Batting Average and second in RBI/game. Daisy Macias is second in Runs/game, fourth in Slugging Average, and fourth in Doubles/game. Kiana Ishikawa leads the NSAA in Triples/game and fourth in Stolen Bases/game and Coronado is also eighth in Doubles/game.

All in all, Mayville State softball has consistently improved over the last three years, and looks to make some noise at the top of the NSAA standings over the next couple of months.

Baseball

The Comets' baseball team came out strong in the fall and have continued to play well throughout the year. As of late March, they are 18-6 overall and 2-2 in the North Star Athletic Association.

Mayville State finished a seven-game fall season with a record of 6-1, including a 5-0 record against the other three

North Dakota NSAA schools (fall games are considered non-conference). The spring season began in earnest at U.S. Bank Stadium in Minneapolis, where the Comets played eight games over two weeks and went 7-1. The key games were a two-game series against No. 11 Clarke University, which the Comets split. Then it was on to Arizona and a game against another ranked opponent, No. Westmont. A 2-1 victory gave the Comets another win over a Top 25 opponent. Those wins combined with a 16-4 record propelled Mayville State to the cusp of the top 25, finishing with 78 voter points and No. 27 overall.

Team-wise the Comets are once again a balanced ball club, strong in most every category. To date, Mayville State is third in ERA, third in Fielding Percentage, and fourth in Runs/game. The running game is perhaps their strongest component as they lead the NSAA with almost two stolen bases/game. Otherwise, they are in the top three or four in virtually every other category, which may mean their strength is that they have no weaknesses.

Individually, a number of Comets are making an impact. On defense, outfielder Dondrei Hubbard's error-free season puts him atop the Fielding Percentage standings. Shortstop Riley Nelson leads the conference in Assists/Game. Pitchingwise, Zach Mahoney and Kody Rock are in the top 10 in every pitching category and are 1-2 in total strikeouts so far this season. Mahoney is currently 3-2 with a 2.44 ERA and 56 K's in 48 innings while Rock is 5-2 with a 3.09 ERA and 48 strikeouts in 47 innings. Offensively, Brady Nygaard is second in the NSAA in RBI/Game, fourth in HR/game, and fourth in Slugging Percentage. Hubbard is excelling offensively as well, as he is fourth in Doubles/Game, eighth in Slugging Percentage, and ninth in Stolen Bases/Game. Drake Yoshioka leads the conference in Stolen Bases/Game and fifth in Runs/Game.

The competition is stiff at the top, as Bellevue is currently No. 8 in the country and Jamestown is rounding back into the form that gets them votes nationally. The Comets will look to continue their strong start in search of an NSAA title and another trip to the national tournament.

Volleyball

The Comets' volleyball team continues to add young talent and looks to rebound from an eleven-win season. A number of freshmen played key roles in 2016 and will look to use that experience to improve in a tough volleyball conference, as three North Star Athletic Association teams reached the NAIA national tournament last year and ranked in the top 25. In addition, 16 of the 22 2016 all-conference players return for the 2017 season. Mayville State will need to replace one of those six all-conference seniors in second-team all-conference opposite hitter Stephany Wold.

The Comets boast plenty of talent. Mayville State will lean on the lone senior, TaLise Hanson, to anchor the back line. She was seventh in the NSAA in total digs and ninth in digs/set. A number of sophomores will need to make similar jumps in order to compete at the top of the NSAA. Hannah Bliss racked up 320 kills her freshman year, and her 2.5 kills/set ranked her tenth in the conference. Middle Hitter Whitney Janu was eighth in the conference in blocks/set and ninth in total blocks. Defensive specialist Jayden Warner was 11th in digs/set in the NSAA and led the back line in receiving percentage. Mackenzie Bring contributed all over the court and finished second on the team in assists and also played outside hitter.

Mayville State will add 14 new players next year. Three of these students are already enrolled and participating in spring workouts. Another 11 will join in the fall. Three are from junior colleges, providing some needed experience. They are Payton Kritzberger, Rumor Stokes, and Cassidy Miller. The incoming freshmen are Jordyn Lucas, Taylor Leitch, Jacey Ross, Miah Hansen, Hannah Johnson, Jaden Christianson, Maci Hart, Sydney Koontz, Jana Mehus, Jessica Lee, and Kaitlin Leier.

The large recruiting class will not only augment the existing talent base and foster competition, it will also allow the Comets to bring back a junior varsity program after a one-year hiatus. This will provide additional experience and repetitions for more players, making the team even stronger. The Comets play in one of the toughest conferences in the nation, but they look forward to testing themselves against the best!

Football

A new era in Comet football begins in 2017 as Sean Thom takes the reins. Coach Thom takes over for John Haines, whose contract was not renewed after three seasons. Thom was the defensive coordinator at North Forsyth High School in Cummings, Ga., a Class 7A high school with an enrollment of 2,400 students. He was also the linebackers coach at Faulkner University, an NAIA school in Montgomery, Ala., where he played college ball. Coach Thom's motto is "Live The Standard," and this motto will permeate every aspect of the program, from practice to academics to community involvement.

New assistants include offensive coordinator Rod Oksendahl, who spent 41 years in the North Dakota high school ranks, winning four state titles. Defensive coordinator Shane Clancy coached defensive backs at Buena Vista the last two years and coached at Northern State (S.D.) for four years prior. Quarterbacks coach Brian Quinn comes from Concordia (Neb.), where he spent the last four years coaching multiple positions on offense and was the JV offensive coordinator. Anton Anderson returns for his fifth season of coaching for the Comets. The last two seasons he has been in charge of the running backs. Jake McSpadden is in his second year as a graduate assistant working with the offense.

The Comets will have a number of all-conference players and starters returning. On offense, 2016 second-team running back Dondrei Hubbard, 2015 second-team quarterback Andrew Blake, and Desmond Earles will return to the Comet backfield. The offensive line will be anchored by Bill Duckworth. Douglas Koepplin, 2015 second-team defensive lineman, returns for his senior season. The Comets are switching to a 3-4 alignment this fall, and linebackers Blaine Miller, Preston Hamlette, and Donte Stevens will be counted upon to generate plays. Jason Holmes, with ten career interceptions, will stabilize a young secondary.

Despite a late start with recruiting, the coaches have been working extensively in the surrounding area, not only convincing new athletes to join the Comets, but also laying the foundation for future recruiting classes. To date, the Comets have signed 22 players and will continue to recruit throughout the spring.

The returning players have been hard at work in the weight room this winter and have started spring workouts.

Women's Basketball

For the sixth consecutive season, the Mayville State women's basketball team finished their season with a winning record, the longest-such streak in the history of the program. During the past six years, the Comets have an overall record of 111-54, for a .673 winning percentage. They have advanced to at least the semi-finals of the NSAA tournament each of the four years the tournament has been in existence, while winning the inaugural tourney in 2014. This past season the Comets finished with an overall record of 17-12, and a winning record within the NSAA with a 9-7 mark. With their defeat of Bellevue University in Omaha in the first round of the NSAA tournament, the Comets advanced to the semi-finals of the

Without a senior on the roster, the Comets had to rely on seven freshmen to contribute heavily. The team had only a 4-6 record heading into Christmas break, but after Christmas they traveled to California and won two games, and that propelled the team to a seven-game winning streak. Then followed a four-game losing streak through the middle part of January. However, they finished the season strong, winning six of their last seven games before entering the NSAA tournament.

NAIA announces Champion of Character recipients for fall, winter

Champions of Character provides training for student-athletes and professional development for coaches and staff. The values of integrity, respect, responsibility, sportsmanship and servant leadership are put into play and accounted for at NAIA schools.

Rashod Thomas, a football player from Cairo, Ga., and Stephany Wold, volleyball player from Underwood, Minn., were the fall sport recipients. Karleigh Weber, a basketball player from Thompson, N.D., and Josh DeWitt, a basketball player from Lino Lakes, Minn., were winter sport recipients.

Benefit for Pratt a success

Pete Pratt, who joined the baseball coaching staff six years ago, has severe health problems. A benefit to help defray his medical expenses was held March 20 at the Goose River Masons Lodge. Kurt and Chase Elliott donated burgers and brats. The Masons cooked and served the meal, and baseball and softball players cleaned up. An impressive $3,700 was raised. Pete (right, front) is shown with some of the Comets baseball players.

The team was led all year long by Andi Gayner. Andi led the NSAA in scoring, averaging 19.1 points per game and 7.9 rebounds per game. Gayner finished the year with a number of accolades, including first-team all-conference, honorable mention NAIA All-American, and NAIA scholar athlete. Karleigh Weber, another junior, also had a solid second-half of the season and finished averaging 8.2 points per game. She shot 34% behind the arc, good for seventh in the NSAA. She made 41 3's on the season, good for tenth in the NSAA.

A couple of freshmen who stepped into the lineup contributed immediately. Naomi Torgerson also contributed as she averaged 12.9 points per game, and was third in the NSAA in steals. Torgerson's season earned her the NSAA Newcomer of the Year award. Claire Blascziek averaged 12.3 points and led the NSAA in 3 PT FG% as she shot 38.0% for the season behind the arc. Andrea Skillingstad also played well as a freshman, collecting 49 blocks, good for third in the NSAA.

The Comets return their entire roster for next season. "It's definitely an exciting time for our program," explained Head Coach Dennis Hutter.

Men's Basketball

After graduating nine seniors, the 2016-2017 Comets' men's basketball team suffered some growing pains. With only two seniors and three juniors on varsity, a number of freshmen and sophomores were counted on to make contributions. The Comets got off to a good start, but some early close losses in conference play snowballed into a long season. Mayville State finished with a 9-18 overall record and 2-14 in the North Star Athletic Association. While the young Comets took some lumps this season, 13 players with varsity experience will be returning for the 2017-2018 season. The learning experiences from this season could be the foundation for a bright future for Comets' men's basketball.

An early home stretch garnered some early optimism for Mayville State, as the Comets raced out to an early 6-1 record, buoyed by some strong defensive efforts. However, the conference slate was punishing. The Comets finished on a high note when they upset Dakota State on their home floor in the season finale.

As 15 players received substantial playing time and 14 started at least one game, individual statistics were spread evenly. Aiden Quinn finished fourth in the conference in Assist to Turnover ratio, Garek Droog finished fifth in blocked shots, and Daniel Lindgren finished eighth in three-point percentage. Ben Maranan shot 87% from the free-throw line and Max Cooper shot 54% from the field. The Comets did finish 14th in the nation in scoring defense.

The Comets are searching for a new head coach, as coach Dan DeWitt's contract was not renewed. The search is ongoing and a new coach should be in place by the middle of April.

The Dueling Pianos Party comes to Mayville State!

Broc Lietz ('93) enjoyed a moment in the spotlight while singing his favorite, "Bad, Bad Leroy Brown."

The young, energetic, and exciting Midwest Dueling Pianos entertainers were at MSU Friday evening, Feb. 3, 2017, just in time to help chase away the winter blues and cabin fever! Mayville State University alumni and friends packed the house at the Campus Center Luckasen Room and had a wonderful time jamming to the music. Some sang along, some sang solo, some danced, and others made their way around the room in a conga line, but one thing was sure ... everyone had lots of fun!

The all-request-driven show featured music ranging from the songs of today to as far back as memories can take you. Tips left with requests for the pianists helped to sway their song choices, and Mayville State benefited in a big way. About $1,500 in tips was raised and added to the proceeds for the night.

The Dueling Pianos Party was held to benefit the students of Mayville State University through the Annual Fund. Thanks to the generosity of several sponsors, 100% of the ticket proceeds from the Dueling Pianos Party went to the MSU Foundation Annual Fund. Entertainment sponsors were Kim and Rob Lauf and Betsy and Jon Ewen of Mayville, N.D.

Entertainment co-sponsors were Linda and Roger Baier of Mayville. The hors d'oeuvres buffet was sponsored by Terry Bachmeier of Mesa, Ariz. and co-sponsored by Steve and Linda Hilstad of Mayville. Overall event sponsors were Moore Engineering, Riddle's Jewelry, and Gate City Bank. Hometown Inn of Mayville offered a special rate for people attending the Dueling Pianos Party.

"The Dueling Pianos Party was a smashing success all the way around," said Dena Bergstrom, organizer of the event and MSU Foundation Annual Giving Associate. "The Annual Fund grew by almost $11,000 as a result of the party, and best of all, nearly 250 alumni and friends enjoyed the experience immensely."

Midwest Dueling Pianos brought a level of fun to Mayville State that those who attended will not forget. Plans are underway for a repeat performance in 2018. More information will be available

Beautiful weather, teamwork make for a great Farmers Bowl _

Rick Karboviak (right), organizer of the Field Frenzy Farmers Bowl 5K run/walk gives final instructions before giving the signal to start the Beautiful weather was the icing on the cake for another successful MSU Farmers Bowl. The annual celebration of the area's agricultural way of life took place Saturday, Sept. 12, 2016. The MSU Foundation, MSU Athletic Department, and MSU Alumni Association, together with alumni and friends in the Mayville-Portland community and beyond, join each year to celebrate Farmers Bowl. This year marked the 22nd annual Farmers Bowl, and activities included the Farmers Bowl Field Frenzy 5K run/walk, a parade, a corn on the cob and hot dog feed hosted by the MSU Athletic Department, the Farmers Bowl football game featuring the MSU Comets vs. the University of Wisconsin-Stout, and the Farmers Bowl Auction.

Lois Karlstad and Cheryl Angen, both of Mayville, were co-chairs for the festivities. Other Farmers Bowl committee members were Doug Anderson, Dena Bergstrom, JoDee Dungan, Rick Karboviak, Leah Larson, Ashley Mooney, Rhonda Nelson, Mindy O'Connor, Beth Swenson, and Ann Willeson. These folks were assisted by the MSU Athletic Department, the MSU athletes, members of the MSU Collegiate DECA organization, and many others.

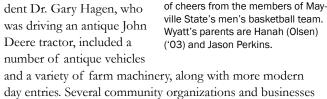

The Farmers Bowl festival started out with the Field Frenzy Farmers Bowl 5K run/walk, which was coordinated by Rick Karboviak. The race began and ended in front of Mayville State's historic Old Main. The course went through corn and hot dog feed under the tent just outside of Jerome Berg Field following the parade. A farmers market and craft sale were also located in this area, and people could shop for things such as purses and bags as well as fresh vegetables.

The Comets football team came up short in their home contest versus the University of Wisconsin-Stout. Unfortunately, five Comet turnovers led to 17 points for the Blue Hawks, leading to a 23-13 loss.

The Farmers Bowl Auction went platinum this year! The 20th annual Farmers Bowl Auction wrapped up the day's activities. Silent and live auction bidders enjoyed great food and spirited bidding on a fantastic assortment of donated items in the annual auction. When all was said and done, the auction and other Farmers Bowl activities generated more than $41,000. Proceeds are distributed through the MSU Foundation, the MSU Alumni Association, and the MSU Athletic Department for the benefit of Mayville State University and its students.

Those who attended the Farmers Bowl Auction had an opportunity to participate in a scholarship fund-raiser, which generated nearly $3,000 for academic honor scholarships. All scholarship funds raised received a 50% match through The Matching Fund for Enhanced Academics, so MSU received an additional nearly $4,500 in scholarship dollars for students.

Dennis Hopman ('58) of Detroit Lakes, Minn. was the winner of the $1,000 cash prize in the Farmers Bowl Cash Fund-raiser that was offered to alumni and friends all over the United States. Proceeds of the Farmers Bowl Cash Fund-raiser are included in the total revenue for Farmers Bowl 2016.

Debbie Swift ('74) of Mayville won an original watercolor painting by Mayville State graduate Doug Anderson ('74), Cavalier, N.D. "Coffee On the Deck" depicts a scene from Anderson's backyard deck. Framing of the piece was donated by Mayville State graduate Kelly Morrison ('76), Mayville.

Everyone who purchased an admission ticket and attended the Farmers Bowl Auction had the chance to win $500 in a door-prize drawing made possible through a sponsorship from Lindsey Brown ('91) of Pifer's Auction & Realty. The winner of the $500 was Troy Sand of Mayville.

"Farmers Bowl is the product of many great volunteers working together for the good of Mayville-Portland and MSU. We are very grateful for all who get involved with Farmers Bowl," said MSU President Gary Hagen. "Farmers Bowl is a great team effort, and we appreciate all that is done to make Farmers Bowl a success year after year. I add a special note of thanks to Comet Connections sponsors, Lindsey Brown and Ray and Alana Gerszewski of Mayville's Hometown Inn."

Giving Hearts Day generates $14,000 for RN-to-BSN online nursing program

Through the efforts of Giving Hearts Day on Feb. 9, 2017, $14,000 was generated for the RN-to-BSN online nursing program at Mayville State University. This amount includes individual contributions, as well as matching funds. Giving Hearts Day gifts of $10 or more (up to a total of $5,000) were matched by the Dakota Medical Foundation and other generous sponsors.

"We are thrilled that donors have taken this opportunity to make a difference in the need for nursing professionals in the local area, as well as in the state of North Dakota and beyond," said Dena Bergstrom, MSU Foundation annual giving associate/phonathon coordinator and coordinator of Mayville State's Giving Hearts Day activities. "The generosity of donors is making a huge impact on students enrolled in the RN-to-BSN program at Mayville State."

This is the fourth time the Mayville State University Foundation has participated in Giving Hearts Day, a 24hour online give-a-thon for non-profit organizations in western Minnesota and North Dakota. The event is hosted every year by the Dakota Medical Foundation (DMF) and Impact Foundation to help participating charities dramatically increase fund-raising success by creating awareness and a 24-hour window of participation that spurs donors to action. This year marked a record amount raised through the event overall. More than $10.6 million was raised by 21,800 donors supporting their favorite charities.

"It is an honor to have been selected to participate in Giving Hearts Day again this year. We are grateful for the matching gifts provided by the Dakota Medical Foundation and other generous sponsors. We truly appreciate all of our generous donors who have supported the RN-to-BSN online nursing program at Mayville State," said Dena Berg-

Through the online RN-to-BSN nursing program, Mayville State is educating nurses at the baccalaureatedegree level. To be admitted to the program, an individual must have earned an associate degree in nursing. Classes in the RN-to-BSN nursing program are offered exclusively online, and were first offered in the fall semester of 2014. The first students to complete the program graduated at the end of the Fall Semester of 2016. For more information, go to www.mayvillestate.edu/nursing.

MSU Foundation

Things are developing

Our Annual Fund - key to a self-sustaining foundation and a successful Mayville State University

by John J. Klocke, CFRE, MSU Foundation Executive Director

I've been on board as your executive director going on six years now and with each year, the importance of the Annual Fund becomes increasingly clear. The Annual Fund is literally the "key" to the Mayville State University's Foundation mission. "The key?" you ask. "I thought scholarships were the key." Without the Annual Fund there would be no scholarships. There would be no staff to raise the needed scholarship dollars.

"How about endowments? Surely endowments are the true key to the future. After all, an endowment will provide income forever!" You are correct. Endowment is a key to the future. Yet, not a single endowment dollar could be raised without the Annual Fund.

"Well, you could ask people to give with this magazine, the MSU Today." That would work. But not without the Annual Fund. Without it, there would be no writer, no editor, no printer, no postage. It all takes money. The Annual Fund Drive creates the funding for MSU Today, for Alumni Day, for Homecoming, for the graduation day activities. The list of benefits the Annual Fund provides goes on and on.

Without the Annual Fund Drive, the MSU Foundation would literally close its doors. There would be no staff, no office, no supplies, no postage, no letters going out, no phone calls being made, no gas in the tank to go visit and thank folks for their gifts. There would be no one to even open the mail. And from there, the list of things that would not be goes on and on ... no Larson Alumni Center, no assistance for Comet Athletic Club, no Farmers Bowl, no Dueling Pianos.

The Annual Fund is like the tiny corn kernel the farmer plants that grows a stalk of corn seven feet tall by season's end. It produces countless ears of corn, each ear covered with hundreds of kernels just like the original one kernel planted. The farmer sees the cost of seed as very small, but necessary. And the return on the farmer's investment is

The Annual Fund can be compared to a shiny new truck designed to haul tons of the farmer's corn down the road for the farmer. The truck is very efficient and will do the task nicely. That is, if it has fuel in the tank. Without the fuel, the truck will never leave the farmvard. The Annual Fund is the fuel for the foundation's tank. Without it we go nowhere.

Annual Fund is key to a self-sustaining MSU Foundation

One of the most exciting things we can share with our alumni and friends is that there will someday be a foundation without the need for an Annual Fund. That's right, someday when our endowment funds are figuratively as tall as that corn. In financial terms, when our endowments reach $10 million dollars, the interest they produce will be enough to fulfill every scholarship award with enough left over each year to run the foundation, all the salaries, supplies, gas, and postage needed to do our jobs!

The Annual Fund Drive will then become the fuel for new programs, new projects on campus, and new scholarships for more students ... fuel for a more successful Mayville State!

Today our endowment funds total just above $6 million. Our total endowment funds have grown on average $1.25 million per year from five years ago when total endowments were under $2

Mayville American Legion post establishes scholarship

The Mayville American Legion Leon M. Mosher Post #8 has established a scholarship at Mayville State University. Scholarships will be awarded to graduates of May-Port CG High School who will be incoming freshmen at Mayville State. The first award will be made to a student who will enter Mayville State as a freshman in the fall of 2017.

The Mayville American Legion Leon M. Mosher Post #8 Scholarship was established with a $2,000 gift to the MSU Foundation, which was matched by the North Dakota Matching Fund for Enhanced Academics. A $750 award will be made annually for four years. Preference will be given to a veteran, and then to a son or daughter or grandchild of a

"We are delighted that the American Legion post has chosen to establish this scholarship that will benefit veterans and/or their descendants. Their thoughtfulness and generosity are very much appreciated," said John J. Klocke, MSU Foundation executive director.

Any veteran or individual wishing to contribute to the Mayville American Legion Leon M. Mosher Post #8 Scholarship may send a gift to the MSU Foundation at 330 Third Street NE, Mayville, ND 58257.

How did we grow that fast? One guess ... yes, the Annual Fund.

Help the MSU Foundation keep operating while we strive for our goal.

The next five years are the most critical for the MSU Foundation. We need to continue growing at a pace that will get us to $10 million in endowment and become self-sustaining. We need to keep the Annual Fund drive strong so we can continue working toward a fully self-sustaining foundation that will help hundreds of students each year forever!

The best gift to MSU

You may be asking, if the Annual Fund is so important and endowment is so important, what should I give to? The answer is simple. This year, as you decide to make a gift to your favorite fund, set aside a percentage for the Annual Fund Drive. And to go a step further, help us with that same kind of gift for the next five years to the Annual Fund. We all have our favorite funds. For some it's the Academic Scholarship Drive to help us get more students on campus. For others, it's giving to the general scholarship endowment or their own family endowment. For still others, it's to give to Comet Athletic Club or Music Makers to help student athletes or student musicians. The list of funds goes on, from the nursing program to diversity scholarships to veterans' scholarships to naming a room in our residence halls or other buildings on campus. Just adjust your gift to give a percentage to the Annual Fund and you will have made the perfect gift!

Three ways to help the Annual Fund

First, give to the Thankful for Mayville Week Annual Fund Drive from April 24 through April 28, and your gift will be matched dollar-for-dollar by $35,000 in matching funds given by generous MSU donors and our board of directors in our Annual Fund Drive.

Second, if you use electronic bill pay through your bank to pay bills, set up a monthly gift of whatever amount works for you through bill pay for the Annual Fund Drive or for all your giving. Set it up and let it run every month. We will send you an annual receipt for this gift for your tax records.

Third, create a monthly Annual Fund donation through your credit card. Pick an amount that you won't miss. Fill out the form (page 14), send it in, and we will set it up for you! This is another easy way to automate your gift and earn credit card points for travel and fun stuff!

Many thanks to our 2017 Comet Connection Members!

Kandy Noles Stevens authors book on grief and love through loss

Kandy Noles Stevens came home to Mayville State to launch the release of her new book. She signed copies for those who came to her book discussion at the Larson Center. Kandy writes a blog and travels all around the country sharing her message of hope.

Author Kandy Noles Stevens ('91) discussed her new book, "The Redbird Sings the Song of Hope: And Other Stories of Love Through Loss," at Mayville State University Nov. 28 and 29, 2016. Not your typical book about grief, the book is the perfect telling of what grieving people wish others knew.

Kandy Noles Stevens had two major dreams for most of her life: to be a mom and to be a teacher. Her dreams came true when she and her husband, Daniel (94), began their life and family in southwestern Minnesota. In the blink of an eye, everything in their world changed, when a school bus carrying three of their children was involved in a tragic crash. Their oldest son and three other children riding the bus were killed that day, and fourteen children were injured, including the Stevens' two other children.

Through her grief journey, Kandy began to write about her family's story and faith in their darkest days. Although she is a grieving mom, she describes herself as a science teacher by day and a superhero by night. True to her Southern roots, she has a story about everything. Sharing her life and its trials, Kandy's down-home style of writing and speaking leaves audiences in tears, fits of laughter, or better vet, both.

In the book, Kandy unapologetically explains what isn't always helpful to the bereaved, but does so with grace and wit. Through her personal stories, she provides practical ideas about how to bring comfort to those who are hurting. In an engaging style, Kandy writes about real people, including some pretty colorful ones, who have loved her family in their darkest days. Infused in every page are hope-filled words of God's faithfulness, including the sending of one redbird when her family needed it the most.

Noles Stevens shared about her family's story and the process of writing about their journey at a discussion held at the Edson and Margaret Larson Alumni and Leadership Center the evening of Nov. 28.

Kandy also made presentations for Mayville State University students Nov. 28 and 29. Kandy's topics included grief - the thing polite people don't talk about.

According to Noles Stevens, "Grief is a unique experience and it is often isolating. To make matters worse, grief is not a comfortable subject in Western civilization and even less so in a society where everything is available instantaneously. Much like having a package arrive from Amazon in two days with a Prime account, many want and expect to be 'over it' in just two days of bereavement leave." Noles explored how we might change this conversation.

Kandy also discussed how those who are grieving are often left exhausted and weary. It is in those moments of weakness when strength of community can support those who feel depleted.

Dr. Jane Brice, NAEMSP president, told the approximately 800 EMS physicians in attendance that the award is "an honor bestowed on a member or members of NAEMSP who have demonstrated exceptional commitment to our organization in creating new initiatives or furthering the work of the organization." The awards do not usually go to board members or committee chairs but this year Dr. Lyng was selected because of his "exceptional service."

Johnson became an instant celebrity and even made an appearance on "The Late Show" with Stephen Colbert.

John "brought order and flow to our standards and practice process. He has standardized our process and brought forth a remarkable number of position statements, resource documents, and policies in the past two years. An Easy Way to Plan for Retirement and SAVE ON TAXES

If you are looking for a way to plan for retirement, there are two charitable gifts you should consider.

Charitable remainder trust - When you transfer your appreciated stock or real estate to fund a charitable remainder trust, you can also avoid capital gains tax on the sale of your assets. The trust will sell the assets tax-free and then use the invested proceeds to pay you income for your life. And your income could potentially grow with growth in the trust assets.

Charitable gift annuity - You make a gift of cash or property to us. In return, we will make payments for life to you, you and a loved one, or another person. Rates are as high as 9%. After all payments have been made, we will receive the remaining value of your gift to support Mayville State University.

To learn more about these plans and their benefits, please contact us or visit our website at www.msugift.org.

Request a brochure by calling John at 701-788-4787 or e-mail him at john.j.klocke@mayvillestate.edu.
