On the cover: Mayville State’s impressive 2013 season (34-6-1) won the team an at-large bid in the NAIA national tournament in Joliet, Ill. in May. The Comets defeated Trinity Christian of Palos Heights, Ill. in their first game (4-1), then were defeated by #1 York College of York, Neb. (1-5) and Cumberland University of Lebanon, Tenn. (5-6), ending national tournament play for Mayville State.
Dear alumni and friends,

We’ve come a long way and have much to celebrate as we approach the 125th anniversary of the establishment of a normal school at Mayville, Nov. 2, 2014. Our campus has grown and improved greatly since the first half of Old Main was completed years ago. We have beautiful residential, instructional, and activity-focused facilities. We’ve consistently set new enrollment records across the board for several years, including surpassing the 1,000-student headcount mark last fall semester. We have fantastic academic programs and our faculty are always at work to provide the best education possible for students. Things are going well and we look to the future with hope and enthusiasm.

A steering committee made up of faculty, staff, and alumni/MSU Foundation representatives has met and plans for a celebration are coming together. Mayville State’s 125th anniversary will be highlighted at a number of our annual special events beginning this fall, and leading up to Nov. 2, 2014.

A grand celebration is being planned for Alumni Days, June 20-22, 2014. Plans include a Gathering of the Greats to honor all Distinguished Alumni and Distinguished Service Award recipients, an all-class reunion, Red Caps baseball reunion, campus open house, and much more. Rumor has it there may be an encore of “The Tonight Show,” which first debuted in Mayville in the late 1980s.

The final activities in the 125th anniversary celebration will take place at Homecoming 2014, when all Athletic Hall of Fame and Athletic Coaches Hall of Fame members will be honored; and of course, on Nov. 2, 2014, the official date of Mayville State’s 125th anniversary.

The privilege of having an institution of higher education in Mayville is truly a reason for all of us to celebrate! The notion of higher education was of great importance to the pioneers of Mayville, and I believe that ideal stands with community members today. We’d love for the 125th anniversary of Mayville State to be a celebration for the entire community. I cordially invite all Mayville State alumni and Mayville-Portland community members to get involved.

If you have questions or ideas you’d like to share regarding the 125th anniversary celebration, please feel free to contact Beth Swenson, director of alumni affairs, at 701-788-4750 or beth.swenson@mayvillestate.edu.

We look forward to celebrating with you!

Sincerely,

Dr. Gary Hagen
President
Mayville State's 125th anniversary is great cause for a community celebration

“The establishment of a college in Mayville marked the end of a dream and the beginning of a grand adventure. The vision of the advantages inherent in higher education had long abided in the thoughts and yearnings of the pioneers who settled in eastern North Dakota. Far from being untutored sodbusters, many had tasted enough education to feel its allure, and more understood, however imperfectly, that their children could rise in life beyond the station of their parents through the power of knowledge.

“The coming of a normal school, or college of teacher education, seemed the answer to half-whispered prayers and dimly defined hopes in the town of Mayville in 1890. The little city, really no more than a flourishing village at the time, was not yet ten years of age.

“A few straggling houses could be seen on the banks of the Goose River before 1881, but nothing which passed for a town was observable before that year. And then in a few short years Mayville became a thriving market town. It was a time of westward advance generally, with settlers leaving the forested land of the older Middle West and spilling out onto the plains, where they found a variety of natural conditions with which they were ill-equipped to cope. It was also the years of the great Norwegian migration to the United States, and that exodus brought the bulk of the settlers who peopled the Mayville area.”

The above excerpts from James Warren Neilson’s “The School Of Personal Service, A History of Mayville State College” set the scene in Mayville during the late 1800s, even before North Dakota became a state. Churches were being built, a public school was organized, and a brick school house was erected. An opera house made the scene. The town was growing.

The people of the young, proud community wanted a college. Such a thing would be unique in a country market town on the prairie, but it was important enough that the community leaders would invest their efforts to make it happen.

Through the work of the Fifty-first Congress, Dakota Territory, which had existed as an administrative unit for more than 25 years, was split and the two Dakotas were brought into the Union as the states of North Dakota and South Dakota.

The voters of North Dakota elected 75 delegates to a state constitutional convention in May of 1889. The convention convened in Bismarck on July 4, 1889, with, of course, the major agenda item of drafting a constitution. Article 19 of their constitution provided for the location of 14 state institutions, including normal schools at Mayville and at Valley City. The voters overwhelmingly ratified the new constitution for North Dakota in October, and the first legislature met in a special session held in November of 1889.

And so, Mayville Normal School, now Mayville State University, was born. By October of 1890, the institution was advertising the fact that it would soon open its doors to students, and by the first of December classes were meeting. The Mayville City Hall, actually a firehouse with rooms on the second floor, provided quarters for the first classes.

A total of 85 students enrolled for classes at Mayville Normal School in the first full academic year which began in 1891. Things were going well. This gave leaders the confidence to move forward with a building project, and some 145 students enrolled and the number of faculty members grew to nine during the second full year of operation.

Early in October of 1895, the operations of Mayville Normal moved to the new lone building, the east wing of what we currently know as “Old Main.” The building featured steam heating, an office, a library, and classrooms. A few upper story rooms were used for dormitory purposes.

“And the rest,” as they say, “is history.”

Coffee & Conversation

MSU President Dr. Gary Hagen and Director of Development John Klocke have hosted Coffee & Conversation sessions in Hillsboro, N.D. and Grand Forks, N.D. this summer. Coffee & Conversation provides a time for Mayville State alumni and friends to gather, visit, enjoy refreshments, and hear the latest from Mayville State University.

If you’re interested in having Hagen and/or Klocke visit your community, let us know. They’d love to get out and share the Mayville State story! Perhaps you’d like one or both to speak at your service club meeting. That would be fantastic!

There is growing concern across North Dakota and the nation about the low number of students, teachers, and professionals prepared in the areas of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM). Somewhere between the fourth grade and high school, students are falling behind in mathematics and science ability. By the time most students reach their final two years of high school, fewer than 15% have enough mathematics and science knowledge to pursue science and technology degrees in college (U.S. Department of Education). Not only are the students underprepared, they are also losing interest. Additional studies show that females and students from lower socioeconomic levels are less likely to enroll in STEM-related courses. Mayville State University is helping to address the need to elevate STEM awareness in pre-K-12 students and educators through its grant-funded STEM initiatives. Mayville State University has been granted funding to assist with this issue. The funding has been used to implement several initiatives impacting Mayville State University’s teacher education program, collaborative pre-K-12 partners, and the community. Mayville State University STEM Education has hosted professional development trainings and community outreach programs since the spring of 2010.

“Exciting” is definitely the definitive term when it comes to the STEM-related opportunities offered at Mayville State University. As has been the case for several years, the month of June was packed with three very big events, STEM Boot Camp, STEM College for Kids, and the Educational Engineering Institute. North Dakota Superintendent of Public Instruction Kirsten Baesler was at Mayville State University on June 25 to see first-hand the exciting STEM activities that are taking place on campus. Mayville State’s Mathematics and Science Partnerships Summer Institute and the annual STEM College for Kids were in session while Superintendent Baesler was on campus. Mayville State STEM also offers a Boot Camp for Educators and a STEM carnival.

Math and Science Partnerships (MSP) Summer Institute

The MSP Summer Institute is a segment of the Educational Engineering Institute presented by Mayville State University, in partnership with the University of North Dakota School of Engineering and Mines, West Fargo (N.D.) STEM Center, and the Red River Valley Education Cooperative. The Educational Engineering Institute is an intensive professional development program for K-12 teachers. The institute focuses on STEM education, different fields of engineering, and how to incorporate engineering concepts into classrooms. It is comprised of a kick-off day, a day in March, a two-week summer session, and a year-long online book study and lesson development. During the summer institute, engineers and STEM instructors provide content on engineering and 21st century skills to the participants. This is the third year of the program, and 29 North Dakota K-12 teachers are participating this year. It is funded through a federal Math and Science Partnerships (MSP) Grant administered by the North Dakota Department of Public Instruction

College for Kids

The STEM College for Kids gives young learners a time during the summer to become scientists and engineers. MSU teacher education students teach STEM project-based lessons for four days to students in grades one through eight. The STEM College for Kids was held June 24-27, 2013. About 100 K-12 instructors enrolled in the MSP Summer Institute had a good time building structures using spaghetti and gumdrops.

children took advantage of this free learning opportunity. Topics included bristle bots, solar oven s’mores, math manipulatives, Legos, and more.

Boot Camp for Educators

The STEM Boot Camp for Educators provides professional development opportunities for pre-K through 12 teachers. The boot camp works to engage faculty in STEM concepts and provide networks to allow for peer support that extends beyond the three days of the program. MSU STEM Education partners with teachers from the West Fargo STEM Center to provide instruction that adheres to these guiding ideas. Boot Camp for Educators was held June 10-12 this past summer.

STEM Carnival

MSU STEM Education hosts a day-long STEM Carnival for children, parents, grandparents, and community members of all ages. Each spring, MSU teacher education students pack the MSU Wellness Center gymnasium with booths that range across all areas of STEM. The carnival participants can go from booth to booth, engaging in science experiments, building structures, and playing with technology. The latest STEM Carnival took place Saturday, April 6. Adults and kids of all ages participated in this free event which featured more than 25 different STEM-related activities at the booths run by Mayville State University students.

Resources offered by MSU STEM Education

Mayville State’s STEM Education program makes numerous resources available for checkout to teachers. The science-related resource kits available include “Animal Observatory,” “Clever Levers,” “Magnet Magic,” “Pully Power,” “Wheels at Work,” and much, much more.

A number of mathematics resources are available as well. See the listing at www.mayvillestate.edu/STEM.

Mayville State STEM program

The mission of Mayville State University STEM Education is to enhance STEM instruction by working with pre-K through grade 12 teachers, Mayville State teacher candidates, parents, and community members to prepare all students for success in the 21st century. Mayville State’s STEM Education is led by program coordinator Sarah Konschak. She is assisted by Missy Hutter. For more information, go to www.mayvillestate.edu/STEM, or contact Sarah Konschak at 701-788-4733 or sarah.konschak@mayvillestate.edu.

Commencement, an end and a beginning

Graduation day at Mayville State University was May 11, 2013. Activities for the day included the Good Grad Morning open house, commencement exercises, and a reception in honor of graduates. Festivities began with the Good Grad Morning open house, held from 10:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. in the Campus Center Luckasen Room. The members of the graduating class were the guests of honor at the event. MSU faculty and staff and friends and family of the graduates were also invited to attend as guests of the MSU Alumni Association. Rami Carlson, Northwood, N.D., spoke on behalf of the Class of 2013 during a short program. Good Grad Morning, a variation on the traditional graduation brunch, was considered the first official alumni event for the graduates. It was hosted by the Alumni Association board.

Commencement followed, at 2:00 p.m., in MSU’s Lewy Lee Fieldhouse. The commencement address was given by 1984 Mayville State University graduate Michael J. Holmes. Current graduates Elizabeth Jemar, Eagle River, Alaska; Todd Olson, Grand Forks, N.D.; and Jay Dyck, Calgary, Alberta; spoke on behalf of the graduates. Because he was injured in an accident a couple of days before graduation, Jay was unable to travel from his home in Calgary for the commencement ceremony. His speech was pre-recorded and played at the ceremony. State Board of Higher Education faculty representative Dr. Douglas Munski, Grand Forks, N.D., brought greetings on behalf of the SBHE.

Following the commencement ceremony, Mayville State faculty, staff, and administration hosted a reception in honor of the graduates. It was held at the Luckasen Room in Mayville State’s Campus Center. The reception was open to the graduates and their guests.

North Dakota Legislature provides funding for capital projects

During the North Dakota 63rd Legislative Assembly this past winter and spring, the Legislature increased operating funding for the Mayville State campus for the 2013-15 biennium, but they also agreed that the proposed capital projects were important and worthy of funding at this time. MSU had identified two priority capital projects that were included in the State Board of Higher Education funding request.

One project involves the replacement of the Old Gymnasium with a 37,344 sq. ft. building that will replicate and expand the current functions of the Old Gym. It will also provide additional instructional lab/practice space needed due to enrollment growth. The state funding request for the project was $5,800,000. The Legislature provided $5,510,000 directly to the campus for the project, and an additional 5% ($290,000) will be held in a North Dakota University System pool for Mayville State’s use, if needed.

The Old Gymnasium, built in 1929, poses serious safety concerns. The replacement project moved to the top of the MSU priority list when a rafter in the building collapsed. This, following two floor collapses, triggered an analysis that reconfirmed structural deficiencies, poor ventilation, outdated wiring and plumbing, the lack of a fire alarm system, and a lack of safe egress from the building. These safety concerns echo the State Board of Higher Education’s number one shared priority - student and employee safety. The hazardous Old Gymnasium has become a critical concern and architects recommended that it be razed and replaced.

These safety issues have come at a time when Mayville State University is experiencing record enrollment levels and the strategic plan projects significant further growth. MSU’s enrollment in Health, Physical Education and Recreation-related majors has increased by 92.9% in the last five years. In 2011, Sports Management, Fitness and Wellness, Health Education, and Physical Education majors were the third most popular majors at Mayville State University, after only Business Administration and Elementary Education. Most of the students in these programs utilize facilities in the fieldhouse and Old Gym as lab or practice spaces as part of their classes or for out-of-classroom activities. Similarly, the number of student athletes is projected to increase 24% by 2015. Since there are not separate facilities for academics and athletics, space must be shared between academics and athletics and other campus events.

A campus committee for the Old Gym replacement and improvement project has begun their work gathering input from stakeholders and taking steps toward the selection of an architect. Design of the project will take place over the next five or six months, with the goal of requesting construction bids early next spring.

The project committee is chaired by Vice President for Academic Affairs Dr. Keith Stenehjem. Committee members are Scott Berry, Mike Moore, John Klocke, Lindsey Johnson, Donna Mark, and Jeremiah Moen. The soon-to-be-hired physical plant director will also be a member of this committee.

The second Mayville State project that received legislative funding involves campus-wide drainage improvements. In the 2011 legislative session, Mayville State was granted funding to conduct a drainage study that analyzed numerous safety issues stemming from poor drainage campus-wide. In the 2013 session, Mayville State received $2,153,650 in direct funding to make the drainage improvements recommended in the study. An additional 5% will be held in a North Dakota University System pool for possible allocation, if needed.

Mayville State’s flat topography is drained with minimally graded landscape areas directed to even shallower graded curb and gutter. Neither Mayville State nor the city has a storm sewer system in this part of town. All water ultimately discharges to a ditch that is severely undersized and drops only six inches in nearly a mile. Spring runoff becomes blocked by ice and snow, creating significant problems for pedestrian and vehicular traffic along Stan Dakken Drive and the nearby athletic and parking facilities. The road creates a negative impression that affects student recruitment and puts public safety at risk.

There are also many areas interior to campus that experience problems associated with poor surface drainage. These drainage problems are hazardous in winter months due to significant sidewalk icing from building downspouts with no other means for an outlet. Standing water contributes to saturated street sub-grade conditions that, when exposed to the freeze-thaw cycle and heavy traffic loads, cause significant pavement and sub-grade failure of the street and parking facilities.

“I extend my sincere thanks to our legislative delegation for their hard work and support of issues that affect Mayville State, our community, and the state of North Dakota,” said MSU President Dr. Gary Hagen. “The capital funding provided in the 2013 legislative session will provide a significant boost to the Mayville State infrastructure, and will provide a safer and more comfortable campus.”

The “Old Gym” will be replaced by a new facility using funds designated in the 2013 legislative session. The hazardous 1929 structure has become a critical concern and architects recommended that it be razed and replaced.
EMT students have invaluable training opportunity through AHEC

Students enrolled in the Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) course offered by Mayville State this spring were given the invaluable opportunity to use a SimMan 3G manikin to help develop and enhance their skills in a simulation event that was held April 11, 2013. Tim Luithle, M.D. of Sanford Health Hillsboro Clinic and medical director for West Traill Ambulance, was on hand to offer feedback to the instructors and students. The event was coordinated by Stefan Hofer ('99), a paramedic with the local West Traill Ambulance Service, and EMT course instructor Scott Parker ('96).

The SimMan 3G allows variation of patient care issues on many levels and facilitates the testing of student skills. During the class period, a variety of scenarios, ranging from trauma to medical patients, was covered.

Simulation has gathered increasing acceptance over the years as an integral part of healthcare training and a fundamental approach to help improve patient safety. The challenge now for educators is how to make it more accessible to the wider healthcare community so that the educational benefits can be experienced by both healthcare practitioners and ultimately, the patients for whom they care.

The SimMan 3G injects a greater realism into scenario-based training to further enhance and contextualize learning objectives in preparation for real-patient encounters. The simulator responds to clinical intervention, instructor control, and programmed scenarios for effective practice of diagnosis and treatment of a patient. The manikin has spontaneous breathing, airway control, voice sounds, ECG, and many other clinical features. It can bleed, cry, vomit, etc.

There is great need for emergency medical technicians in rural areas. In response to that need, Mayville State University offers the EMT course for the general student population, as well as community members. Students have the opportunity to help out in the local community while they are enrolled as Mayville State students, but when they graduate and go on to jobs elsewhere, they will bring valuable EMT skills with them and have the opportunity to make a difference for others, no matter where they live.

The patient simulators are made available to the rural areas through the North Dakota Area Health Education Centers (AHEC). AHEC has purchased several human patient simulators to be used to provide rural health education and training. AHEC owns the SimMan 3G simulator, the ALS Simulator, Noelle - birthing simulator, SimBaby, and Pedia Sim. These simulators are an invaluable resource to this area.

AHECs are statewide networks of community-based organizations linked to academic health centers to address health workforce needs. They aim to improve access to health care services in medically underserved areas. In addition to the program office located at the Center for Rural Health at UND, North Dakota AHEC has two rural-based locations. Eastern N.D. AHEC, located in Sanford Health at Mayville, serves 28 counties and is directed by Dr. Bill Krivarchka. Western N.D. AHEC, located in Hettinger, serves 25 counties and is directed by Denise Andress. The Mayville and Hettinger offices are both contracted with Mayville State University.

Alumni and friends share working knowledge

The Division of Business and Computer Information Systems advisory board provides the division with input regarding trends in employment, skills employers seek, technology students need to know, and tips on job search. They also advise on curriculum matters. The board members bring real-life expectations to the division and frequently come to the campus to present information in the classroom. Advisory board members for 2013 are Scott Roller ('95), Lukas Dziengel ('04), Jessica DeClercq, Aimee Larson ('07), Joni (Bjornstad) Keller ('84), Don McMullen ('84), Matthew Larsgaard ('01), and Hyllis Dauphinais ('03).
Retirees honored for their years of service

Eight members of the Mayville State family earned the title of “retiree” during or after the 2012-2013 year. All had served Mayville State University and its students well, and are very deserving of an opportunity to slow down and enjoy time for themselves and their families.

Arlys Bye and Carol Eken both came on board as employees of dining services when Mayville State began its self-operated business several years ago. Arlys retired in December, while Carol wrapped up her work with Mayville State at the end of June.

Faculty members Dr. Kathleen Champion, John Lankow, Patricia Nordine, and Dr. Paul Meartz completed their tenures at the end of the academic year in May. While these faculty members will no longer be teaching classes on campus, all have agreed to continue to teach online courses on a part-time basis. They all have been trailblazers for Mayville State in the area of online education. Their services in this capacity are invaluable.

Associate Professor of Mathematics Dr. Kathleen Champion had been with Mayville State since 1988. Pat Nordine worked as an instructor in Computer Information Services for 15 years. They ended their status as full-time faculty members after graduation this spring. Both plan to spend more time with their grandchildren and families in their retirement.

Director of Physical Plant Dennis Schultz and Beverly Holt, custodian, had both worked for Mayville State for 29 years when they retired. Dennis completed his tenure at Mayville State the end of May. Bev retired the end of June.

Bev was selected by the staff of Mayville State to receive the Orville Johnson Meritorious Service Award last spring. This award is given to an employee who shows outstanding dedication, loyalty, and trustworthiness toward Mayville State University and his or her fellow employees. Each year, staff members nominate and select a fellow employee to receive the distinguished award.

One of the fellow Mayville State employees who nominated Bev for the award had this to say about her, “Bev is the most positive person! No matter what the time of the day, she is willing to help you out and does so with a smile! She is always a welcoming face on campus. Her dedication to her work is superb. She is conscientious and very good at her job. She has been a faithful steward for many years and will be sadly missed upon her retirement.”

Holt says, “I have enjoyed my years at MSU very much. It was so much fun meeting students and getting to know them. The faculty and staff are so great, and my co-workers are a great bunch of people who are always there when you need them. Everyone works hard to make MSU a better place.” Bev will spend her retirement going to the activities of her grandchildren and spending more time visiting with family and friends … and getting things done at home.

Completion of the tunnel project and the new steam power plant, two projects that he oversaw, are career highlights for Dennis Schultz. He is also proud of the fact that he was able to complete his bachelor’s degree as a part-time student while working full-time for Mayville State.

Dennis says, “I will miss the rat race, the midnight calls, and the water leaks. I have been coming to the same place every day for 29 years, and it’s a bit scary to think that I won’t be doing that any more, but I think I will be able to get used to it.” His plans for retirement include a garden, grandkids, and a fishing pole.

Dr. Paul Meartz was bestowed the title of Emeritus Professor of Geography and Political Science upon his retirement. He taught mainly geography and political science classes since beginning his tenure at Mayville State in August of 1977. He says the class movies he made for world geography and multicultural world classes over the last few years are a highlight for him. The movies are creative and maximize the use of technology to spur growth in cross-cultural, geographic learning.

In addition to his teaching and committee duties at Mayville State, Paul played a bedrock role in the establishment of the North Dakota Geographic Alliance. Alliances were pushed by the National Geographic Society beginning in the late 1980s, to overcome the decline in geographic knowledge among American K-12 students. Paul served as newsletter editor, web master, and board member in the organization. He received the Friend of Geography Award from the North Dakota Geographic Alliance in 2011.

In reflecting on his career at Mayville State, Meartz said, “Being a personal place, at Mayville you remember the individual students you grabbed with learning or otherwise helped to find themselves. Many are kids who just face bad times and you give them a break or help so that the future remains bright and life’s events don’t spoil their future. Others you know listened and learned more than what the required tests can show. Almost all of these remain personal things never noted by anyone but you and the student.”

Dr. Meartz and his wife, Sue, have moved from Mayville to their Minnesota lake home, where they plan to enjoy their retirement years.

Assistant Professor of Biology John Lankow was named Mayville State University Teacher of the Year for 2012-2013. Willing to try new approaches, Lankow has been a pioneer in the development of online science courses for Mayville State. He first developed a niche with the anatomy and physiology sequence, offerings that have been very well-received, and he has delivered these courses to students around the world. He has recently been working on development of other online offerings such as microbiology.

Traill Blazers provide music scholarships

For the last several years, a group of approximately 70 men, known as the Traill Blazers, have performed concerts that have benefitted Mayville State. To date, the Traill Blazers have donated more than $21,000 to music scholarships at MSU.

Rehearsals begin the first Wednesday in January of each year, and a home concert is presented at the MSU Classroom Building Auditorium on a Sunday in February. In addition to the home concerts, Traill Blazers have performed twice at the Capitol in Bismarck and the veterans home in Lisbon, N.D. They have also sung at the veterans hospital in Fargo, the Shrine auditorium in Grand Forks, and at various nursing homes throughout the area.

Mayville State joins North Star Athletic Association

Anderson named commissioner

The newest conference in the NAIA has announced the selection of its inaugural commissioner. Cory Anderson will lead the North Star Athletic Association (NSAA), which began full operation with the beginning of the 2013-14 academic year. The NSAA also unveiled a new logo.

The five charter members of the North Star Athletic Association, which is based in the Upper Midwest, are: Dakota State University (S.D.); Jamestown College (N.D.); Mayville State University; Presentation College (S.D.); and Valley City State University (N.D.). Also, Dickinson State University (N.D.) has accepted an invitation to become the sixth member of the NSAA, beginning July 1, 2014.

“We are so pleased that Cory Anderson is joining the NSAA as its first commissioner,” said Dr. Steve Shirley, president of Valley City State University and organizing chair of the NSAA. “Cory brings a tremendous breadth and depth of relevant experiences to our new conference. We anticipate a bright future and continued growth within the North Star that will benefit student-athletes and supporters of all our institutions, and we are confident in Cory’s abilities to lead the conference forward.”

Anderson comes to the NSAA with more than 25 years of experience in coaching, higher education, the private sector, and non-profit administration, including his most recent position as the executive director of the James River Family YMCA in Jamestown, N.D. A 1989 graduate of Valley City State University, Anderson worked in several capacities over the next 19 years in higher education. He served as the head baseball and an assistant football coach at VCSU with additional responsibilities in enrollment services, sports information, and athletics administration. Anderson previously served as a chair and rater for the North Dakota Collegiate Athletic Conference, Dakota Athletic Conference, and NAIA Region III. In 2005, he was recognized as the first recipient of the NAIA Coach of Character Award for Region III.

“I am honored to be selected as the first commissioner of the North Star Athletic Association,” Anderson said. “It is an exciting opportunity to work with student athletes, coaches, administrators, and fans in growing the NSAA. Volleyball coming off strong 2012 season

The 2013 Mayville State University volleyball season is already in full swing. The players reported to campus on Aug. 4 to prepare for the 2013 season. The first official game action was Aug. 16, when the Comets hosted Waldorf College and Viterbo College in triangular match play.

The Comets are coming off a strong 2012 season which ended with an overall record of 24-15. Mayville State hosted last year’s Association of Independent Institutions Conference tournament in which they advanced to the semi-final round before falling to Jamestown College.

The Comets saw the departure of some major contributors in seniors Maggie Maroney, Brittany Olson, Ashley Torgusson, Laura Kolness, and Nikki Roholt. Last year’s group of seniors contributed both statistically to many wins and brought leadership to the team. The Comets maintain experience as they welcome Kiah Smith, Betsy Smith, Remington Werner, and Josette Glatt back for 2013.

Josette Glatt earned a number of honors for her achievements on the floor last season, including NAIA All-American honorable mention team, all-region first team, and all-conference first team. On the season, the middle hitter from Bismarck, N.D. ranked second in Division I hitting percentage (0.417) and 18 in Division I in total kills (494). Glatt had a season-high 24 kills on two different occasions, against Ashford and Mount Mercy.

The 2013 team will feature 20 total student athletes. Head coach Lindsey Johnson, now in her sixth season, will be assisted by Ashley Nelson and Emily Liljestrand. Ashley is in her fifth season as an assistant coach for the program, but this year marks her first as full-time staff.

Football in pursuit of elusive winning season

After back-to-back seasons with five wins, the Comets look to get over the hump and capture the elusive winning season.

The team is bringing back a strong nucleus, including four pre-season All-Americans. The four Comet players who have earned this honor are Jacob Grosz at linebacker, Rashad Flanders at cornerback, Adam Popple at offensive line, and Taylor Kunkel at wide receiver. Jacob Grosz and Rashad Flanders captured first team All-American honors and Adam Popple and Taylor Kunkel were given second team honors.

Four pre-season All-Americans is an all-time high at Mayville State University.

Jacob Grosz, from Barnesville, Minn., is a two-time all-conference and defensive player of the year selection. Rashad Flanders, Miami, Fla., is a two-time all-conference selection. Taylor Kunkel, Grangeville, Idaho, is a two-time all-conference selection and is currently 31 catches shy of 100 for his career.

Adam Popple, West Bend, Wis., is one of the anchors of the Comet offensive line. Please visit Mayville State’s official athletics website at msucomets.com and navigate to the football home page to see the entire pre-season all-American press release.

The Comets have already seen an unofficial start to the season as they hosted their annual Future Stars Football Camp, sponsored by Miller’s Fresh Foods, in early August. The weather was as close to perfect as it gets to start football season with temperatures in the high 60s and a slight breeze to make sure that there were no bugs. About 40 campers participated in this year’s Future Stars Football Camp. The schedule included skills and drills for the youngsters, along with an opportunity to be coached by some of the current members of the Comet football team. All campers had a great time as they learned about football and teamwork.

The first game of the season for the Comets was Aug. 31, when they faced Midland University in Fremont, Neb. The first home game is Sept. 14, when they host Haskell University.
Men’s basketball continues rebuilding process

The men’s basketball team is eager to get the 2013-14 season underway, as they continue the rebuilding process.

The Comets finished last season with an overall record of 10-17. The 2012-13 team saw the departure of four seniors in Cody Couquette, Austin Emerson, Steven Ivory, Jr., and Dexter Elliot. Nine players on the 2013-14 squad are returners, and 17 faces are new to the program. The new group of players includes six North Dakota and Minnesota high school standouts and 11 transfer students from North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana, California, Idaho, and Australia.

The 2013-14 season also brings change to the men’s basketball coaching staff. Bryen Pyles, a former student athlete at Mayville State University, begins his first season as a full-time assistant for the Comets. Bryen is originally from Bronx, N.Y. and played two seasons of college basketball at Sheridan College in Wyoming before arriving in Mayville. Bryen brings recruiting savvy and on-floor skill development to the basketball program.

Kevin Ratzsch also joins the men’s basketball program for the 2013-14 season. Kevin played collegiate basketball at Northern State University, where he earned Division II All-American and Northern Sun Player of the Year honors. Kevin has spent the last three years playing professional basketball in Europe and Australia. He brings a wealth of strength and conditioning knowledge and on-floor skill development to the program.

The men’s basketball players reported to campus on Aug. 26 and will waste no time in getting to work as they begin their pre-season strength and conditioning and skill workouts. Play begins Oct. 18 with the Mayville State Classic, which features Mayville State, Jamestown College, Canadian Mennonite University, and Crossroads College. The Comets open play against Canadian Mennonite University Friday, Oct. 18 at 7:30 p.m.

The Comets look forward to competing in the newly formed North Star Athletic Association as they take on Jamestown College, Valley City State University, Dakota State University, and Presentation College.

“Our team greatly appreciates the support of our alumni and friends,” said head coach Dan DeWitt. “We extend an invitation to all who are interested in receiving monthly updates about everything happening with the men’s basketball program via electronic newsletter.”

Expectations high for women’s basketball

The Mayville State women’s basketball team is coming off one of the most successful seasons in school history. The Comets finished the season 20-6 overall and qualified for the national tournament for the first time in school history.

Expectations are very high for the 2013-14 season. The Comets return 12 of their top 14 players from the national tournament team roster. They have also added some keys players to their roster, who will hopefully help take the team to the next level.

Mayville State returns Marcisa McMillan (Seattle, Wash.) for her senior season. Marcisa was voted the A.I.I. Conference Player of the Year last year. She also earned second team All-American honors.

The Comets return two other all-conference players as well. Hailey Longtin (Walhalla, N.D.) will begin her final season with the Comets, along with Sabrina Rude (McVille, N.D.). Longtin currently ranks sixth on the career scoring list for the Comets. She has scored 1,169 points entering her senior season.

The Comets will have solid veteran leadership from their seven seniors this season. Besides McMillan and Longtin, seniors include Angela Tauer (Hutchinson, Minn.), Sam Heier (Ray, N.D.), Kay Laforet (LaSalle, Ont.), Missy Kassube (Eagle Bend, Minn.), and Apiphany Asberry (Brooklyn Park, Minn.).
The 2013 season was a very successful one for the Mayville State University baseball team. The Comets finished with an overall record of 35-8-1, qualified for the NAIA national tournament, and had several players earn all-conference awards. Head coach Scott Berry was named the Association of Independent Institutions (A.I.I.) Conference Coach of the Year.

The Comets searched out and travelled to all parts of the tri-state area to find dry, snow-free ground on which to play their 2013 season games. Regular-season game locations ranged from Winner, S.D. to Minneapolis, Minn., and Dickinson, N.D. The Comets battled the elements and captured 34 regular season victories, despite not playing a single game at home due to weather. The NAIA national tournament brought the baseball team to Joliet, Ill. where they captured win number 35 on the season before being eliminated at the hands of Cumberland University in the third game of the tournament.

Head coach Scott Berry and several Mayville State University baseball players earned conference awards for their efforts during the 2013 season. Coach Berry was named the (A.I.I.) - Frontier Conference Coach of the Year. Johnny Pistulka, 6’4” sophomore OF/P from Wabasso, Minn. was named the A.I.I. - Frontier Conference Player of the Year. In addition to player of the year, Pistulka also earned all-conference first team honors as an outfielder. Zachary Mihic, 5’8” sophomore catcher from Langley, British Columbia, earned all-conference first team honors for the Comets. Victor Sokolofsky, 5’10” senior from Moorhead, Minn., earned all-conference first team honors for his efforts from the pitcher’s mound. Duell Higbe, 6’3” senior from Austin, Minn., earned all-conference first team honors for the Comets as a relief pitcher. Kurtis McCallum, 6’2” senior from Thunder Bay, Ontario, earned all-conference first team honors as a designated hitter.

In addition to the all-conference first team honors, the Comets also boasted several Gold Glove award winners last season. Gold Glove award winners were Zachary Mihic at catcher, Dillon Lundin at first base, Spencer Kidder in center field, and Johnny Pistulka in right field.

VandeVeen named softball coach

Socializing and a meal prior to a business meeting which was held at the group’s annual meeting held at the Mayville Golf Club. The Comet Athletic Club board members hosted a time of socializing and a meal prior to a business meeting which was led by the club’s president, Shane Orr.

The Comet Athletic Club operates under the umbrella of the MSU Foundation to raise funds for scholarships awarded to Mayville State University athletes. The club’s annual activities include a membership drive and a number of fundraising events. The Comet Athletic Club established and met their goal to provide $97,500 for Mayville State University athletic scholarships this year.

“The Comet Athletic Club is led by a fantastic group of volunteer board members,” said Mayville State University President Dr. Gary Hagen. “We are very fortunate to have this dedicated group of volunteers working together with alumni and friends from near and far to support Mayville State University Athletics. The success of the Comet Athletic Club is definitely a team effort and one that is extremely valuable, not only to the students as individuals, but to the university as a whole.”

Last fall, the Comet Athletic Club set out to enlist 225 members and raise $70,000 in the 2012-2013 membership drive. As of the end of the fiscal year, 285 members had joined the club, raising $66,993 in membership dollars. Much of the success of the membership drive can be attributed to a phonothon that was held last fall. Nearly 900 calls were made and more than $5,600 in pledges was committed. The phonothon served not only as a good fundraiser, but also as an opportunity to make connections with alumni and friends.

Throughout the past year, the Comet Athletic Club has sponsored a number of fundraising events. They include the annual Sportsmen’s Raffle, a 3-on-3 basketball tournament for girls and boys, and the Harvey McMullen Open Golf Tournament. In addition, they hosted the annual corn on the cob and hot dog feed held during Farmers Bowl festivities, as well as a supper for athletes and coaches held the week prior to Farmers Bowl.

A highlight for the 2012-2013 year was the sixth annual Sportsmen’s Raffle on Sept. 8 in the National Guard Armory in Mayville. The event was an over-the-top success and netted about $39,000. The event featured a 55-gun giveaway. Those who purchased the $100 tickets had a one-in-ten chance of winning.

Finley Motorsports of Finley, N.D. sponsored the raffle of a 2012 Polaris 500 Ranger all-terrain vehicle. The drawing for the ATV was held at the Sportsmen’s Raffle event. Eight cash consolation prizes were awarded in this raffle as well. Hunter Equipment donated a 22-gun John Deere gun safe that was awarded at the event, and numerous other side raffles and games were held throughout the evening.

The Comet Athletic Club’s seventh annual Sportsmen’s Raffle event is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 7, 2013. This year, 600 $100-tickets will be sold and 60 guns will be given away. Finley Motorsports will again sponsor the raffle of a Polaris 500 Ranger ATV, and Hunter Equipment has donated a gun safe that will be raffled.

Harvey McMullen Open held in Mayville July 26

The fourth annual Harvey McMullen Open Golf Tournament was held Friday, July 26, 2013 at the Mayville Golf Course. The 4-person scramble provided a fun-filled format for the 48 golfers who participated.

The Harvey McMullen Open Golf Tournament is sponsored by the Mayville State University Comet Athletic Club. Formerly known as the North Valley (Hoople)-Comet Connection, the annual golfing event was renamed in 2010 in honor of one of its founders, Harvey McMullen. Harvey, a native of Hoople, N.D., and Jerome Berg, both Mayville State University icons and steadfast supporters of the school, established the North Valley (Hoople)-Comet Connection Golf Tournament in the early 1990s. The purpose in starting the event remains the same today as it was then: to raise scholarship funds for Mayville State student athletes while having fun with friends from near and far. Over the years, the event has been held at Mayville and at northern Red River Valley golf courses.

The winning foursome of the day was made up of Todd Schmidt, Dean Schmidt, Tom Miller, and Mark Osland. The second-place team included Jason Cline, Dave Erickson, Jim Gremmels, and Wayne Trudeau. Third place honors went to Brett Kville, Brent Gullicks, John Murphy, and Jerrod Bergstrom.

A highlight of the day was the raffle drawing for a custom-made Harvey McMullen Open golf bag. Billy Balstad was the lucky winner of the bag that sports a Harvey McMullen Open motif, as well as the Mayville State University and Comet Athletic Club logos.
Halls of Fame honor former athletes and high school coaches

Mayville State University has a proud tradition in athletics. To honor and preserve the memory of those athletes, teams, coaches, and others who have contributed in a very outstanding and positive way to the promotion of the Mayville State athletic programs, the Mayville State Athletic Hall of Fame was established in 1983.

The inductees in that inaugural year were Jerome Berg, Doug Eiken, Peter Flaa, Vernon Halda, Lewy Lee, Wilfred Luckasen, Al Meyer, and the 1955-56 basketball team. The number of inductees has grown over the years, and currently 121 teams and individuals are members of the prestigious athletic hall of fame.

Plaques featuring a photograph and description of each of the inductees are displayed in Mayville State’s literal “hall” of fame, located in the north corridor of the Lewy Lee Fieldhouse. One cannot help but feel nostalgic while perusing and reading about the great student athletes and coaches who have passed through the doors of Mayville State over the years. It’s fun to learn about or reminisce about the times when the likes of Luther Aamold, Grady Rostberg, Harvey McMullen, Gene Roebuck, Beth Koppang Hughes, Patrick Keenan, Danny Swift, and Donna Johnson Hutchison graced the athletic fields and courts and classrooms of Mayville State.

Over time, it has been very evident that Mayville State has scores of alumni who were not necessarily outstanding athletes as Mayville State students, but who went out into the world and have greatly impacted others through their impressive coaching careers. Thus, the Athletic Coaches Hall of Fame was born in May of 2010. Inductees that year were Mike Mahlen, Donna Ludwig Mark, Gelaine Orvik, and Ken Rio.

Each year, a selection committee meets to select the year’s inductees for Athletic Hall of Fame and Athletic Coaches Hall of Fame from a pool of nominations that is collected throughout the year. Those not selected in a particular year remain a part of the active nomination pool for a period of three years.

Several committee members represent decades of male and female athletes. In addition, ex-officio voting members include the director of intercollegiate athletics, a member of the Comet Athletic Club, and a member of the Alumni Association board of directors. President Gary Hagen serves as an ex-officio, non-voting member, as does Beth Swenson, the director of alumni affairs.

Committee members can serve up to two three-year teams. Each year, the committee meets in June to select the current year’s inductees who will be honored during the fall homecoming festivities. In addition to Hagen and Swenson, this year’s selection committee included Mike Moore, Martin Johnson (’66), Kelly Morrison (’76), Ken Rio (’49), Clint Lein (’62), Curt Almlie (’66), Maxine Mehus (’72), Duane Rindy (’76), Mark Osland (’84), Kim (Kassenborg) Ulven (’85), Jeremy Strand (’99), Tami (Iverson) Parker (’97), Matt Stenjem (’08), and Jessica (Haugen) Eliason (’05).

“We’ve been fortunate to have many great volunteers participate on this committee over the years,” said Beth Swenson, “and we are grateful to them for their service.”

Please mark your calendars and plan to join us for this year’s homecoming festivities when the newest members of the Athletic Hall of Fame and the Athletic Coaches Hall of Fame will be inducted. Athletic Hall of Fame inductees Allan D. Larson (’55), Rodney Anderson (’67), Ron Ness (’65), and Cedric Weatherspoon (’92) will be honored at a dinner on Friday evening, Oct. 11. Michael Sly (’67) will be honored posthumously. Athletic Coaches Hall of Fame inductees Jim Bisenius (’59), Dan Carr (’78), John Hutchison (’67), David Hanson (’70), and Bob Zimney (’74) will be the guests of honor at a luncheon on Saturday, Oct. 12.

Nominations for the Athletic Hall of Fame and Athletic Coaches Hall of Fame are collected on an ongoing basis. Complete nominations received by June 1 of each year are considered for induction in that same year.

A variety show followed the Alumni Association Awards Dinner Friday evening. It was held in the MSU Classroom Building Auditorium. Performances included traditional Indian dancing by current Mayville State students Nisa Rajput and Kim Gundu. Klutch, aka Allan Nota and Lloyd Marimbire, MSU students from Zimbabwe, danced hip-hop-style. Flash Walrus, a band made up of local teens Tyler Cordahl, Ross Capouch (son of Nancy (von Ruden) (‘81) and Tom (‘84) Capouch), Aaron Rekken, and Tucker Pearson, performed a variety of songs. Merle Boucher, Rolette, N.D., represented his home county of Rolette in the North Dakota House of Representatives from 1990 to 2010. In 1997, he was elected by his peers in the Democratic Party to serve as the House Minority Leader, a position he held for 14 years. A stalwart supporter of education, he made sure that North Dakota’s public schools and colleges were adequately funded, and he was a persistent supporter of the smaller college campuses, including Mayville State University. In service to his constituents, Merle worked tirelessly toward improving educational opportunity for the state’s Native American population and bettering health care delivery to them. As evidence to the high regard he earned, Boucher was selected to run for lieutenant governor in 2010. Although unsuccessful in the effort, he gained statewide recognition and respect. Upon returning full time to his ranch in Rolette County, Merle became a county commissioner, and he serves on the Rolette County Social Service Board. He is executive director of the developing Border Winds Project, a group of 66 electricity generating wind towers near Rolla, N.D. Prior to becoming a legislator, he was a teacher and coach at Rolette Public School. She has developed a standards-based K-12 district curriculum and assessment development process. In addition, she has led or served on numerous curriculum teams in the district and on the state level, and she has made it her goal to create a community of learners in the school where nurturing and caring in a safe learning environment are of utmost importance. Follman was named the Regional Principal of the Year in 2010-2011, and received the North Dakota Principals Association Bell Ringer Award in 2002-03. Deb began her career in education as a kindergarten teacher in Rugby, N.D. in 1982. After a year, she became a first-grade teacher in Devils Lake, and she became principal at Sweetwater Elementary in 1998. She earned her bachelor's degree from Mayville State in 1982, a master's degree from the University of North Dakota in 1998, and a Ph.D. from North Dakota State University in 2011. She and her husband, Rick, are the parents of a son and a daughter.

Daryl Nord graduated from Mayville State in 1969, and later earned a master's degree and Ph.D. from the University of North Dakota. He began his career as a university professor at the University of New Mexico in 1976. Daryl and his wife, Jeretta, enjoy spending time with their family, sons, Jason and Nicholas, and daughters, Rebecca and Audrey.

Dr. Rodney Strand, Knoxville, Tenn., was selected to attend a NASA institute in space biology at UCLA in the summer of 1967, just after graduating from Mayville State. He attended the University of Utah, and finished a Ph.D. in ecology at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville in 1973, while working at Oak Ridge National Laboratory (ORNL). He spent nearly 10 years at ORNL, followed by five-year stints at Science Applications International Corporation (SAIC) in Pittsburg, Pa.; Bermuda; and Columbus, Ohio; and then the University of Tennessee, Knoxville as a technical director and associate director for research. Curt Almlie, Detroit Lakes, Minn., has in official and unofficial capacities helped to make many connections for Mayville State, connections that have contributed to the success of Mayville State University. Curt first made an impact at Mayville State in the 1960s, when he was enrolled as a student and was a standout athlete in both baseball and football. He has worked as a faculty member and coach, and he also served as executive director of the Mayville State Alumni/Foundation during the 1980s. During that time, Almlie was instrumental in providing many opportunities for Mayville State alumni to get involved not only with their alma mater, but also with each other. It was with Curt’s guidance that the Mayville State University Athletic Hall of Fame was established in 1983. He has worked to maintain the tradition associated with this institution throughout the years that have followed. Almlie proposed and helped to found the Mayville State Athletic Coaches Hall of Fame in 2010. The establishment of this award has proven to be very successful and valuable, providing an avenue in which to honor the plethora of Mayville State graduates who have been highly successful as high school coaches. Curt earned a bachelor’s degree from Mayville State in 1966. He and his wife, Marlene, are the parents of two sons and a daughter.
Welcome, alumni, to your new home!

The doors will soon be opening to the Larson Alumni and Leadership Center on the northwest corner of the MSU campus. Major renovation work began in late March of this year, with an anticipated move-in date in December.

“We will be very pleased to invite alumni to their new meeting place for a ‘sneak peek’ preview this homecoming weekend,” said President Gary Hagen. “We are thankful for the massive support from around the country to complete the renovation phase of the building project.”

The Edson and Margaret Larson Alumni and Leadership Center will be open for any alumni and friends who wish to stop by for a look on Saturday, Oct. 12 from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

“There is a lot of work to be done yet,” said John Klocke, director of development. “The renovation has come along nicely and has remained on budget.”

Klocke added that once renovation is complete, all contributors to the project will be sent a special invitation, asking them to come and get the first look at the completed building. A grand opening of the alumni center is planned for Alumni Days 2014, June 20-22, when Mayville State alumni will be gathering to celebrate the university’s 125th anniversary.

“This has been a dream for the last ten years, and we are all very excited,” Klocke said.

The Larson Center, first constructed in 1911 as an infirmary for students, later became the home of several MSU presidents, and provided student housing at times as well. Once renovation is complete, the building will return to its former glory as it becomes a place for alumni to meet, as well as a home for the Larson Leadership program, a cross-curricular program that instills leadership values for MSU students, helping to send them out after graduation as potential leaders in their communities.

“We have one more fundraising campaign to fulfill to completely furnish the building inside and out,” Klocke said.

The MSU Foundation staff will move their offices into the building in December. Fundraising for indoor furnishings and exterior landscaping will continue until goals are met.

“We will see how much we need to raise at the completion of the renovation and will then begin a special campaign,” Klocke stated.

Deck the Hall for Doug

Doug Anderson, the visionary volunteer who began fundraising efforts more than ten years ago, will be the focus of this final campaign to furnish Larson Hall with the “Deck the Hall for Doug” campaign to honor his tireless efforts.

“We believe that naming a room after Doug would be a fitting tribute to his hard work and dedication,” said Jon Ewen, chair of the MSU Foundation board. “This building might have been torn down if it were not for Doug Anderson and his team of volunteers and supporters. We owe him a big debt of gratitude.”

Ewen shared that if the final campaign goal is met, the Honor Room on the top floor of the Larson Alumni and Leadership Center will be dedicated in Anderson’s name and the funds from the final appeal will purchase all the remaining furnishings yet unsponsored. Contributors’ names will be listed on a special plaque in the Doug Anderson Honor Room as a permanent tribute of thanksgiving for Anderson’s efforts.

“We project our needs for this final phase will be approximately $35,000 to $75,000, depending on how much money might be left in the budget after renovation work is complete,” said Klocke. When alumni stop by for the “sneak peek” preview during homecoming, they will see and learn more about the final campaign and see color renderings of the key items still left to make this alumni center a comfortable home and meeting place for current students and returning alumni.

A partial list of the items that will be purchased or sponsored includes:

- A stove and refrigerator for the kitchen
- Restoration of the upstairs fireplace
- Sponsorship and furnishing of the elevator
- Special track lighting fixtures for art display throughout
- A multi-purpose board room table
- Wi-Fi connection hardware
- Touch monitors on each floor
- Restoration of the south balcony
- Sponsorship of landscaping designs and labor for a veterans memorial garden
- Sponsorship of a Larson Center sign with Comet blue back lighting and accompanying garden
- Special decorative sidewalks and general landscaping
- Hospitality endowment fund to permanently provide refreshments to students and alumni who visit the Larson Center for special meetings and events
- Comfortable, long-wearing furniture for several rooms.
Larson Alumni and Leadership Center will open soon.

In addition to these needed finishing touches, MSU alumni and friends are asked to look for memorabilia or photos for the 1911 room.

“We are looking for items of historical nature suitable for framing or display in a smaller room, primarily art and photography or small items that can be placed on shelves or hung on walls where there is space,” said John Klocke.

Those interested in having a 1911 item considered are asked to send a photograph and description to John Klocke at the foundation office. A decorating team will determine which items would be appropriate to the historical design. Once choices are made, those folks sending in photos will be contacted about donating the actual items.

Klocke mentioned that recognition plaques would not be in place until the building is completely furnished and all funds have been raised so that plaques can be placed all at the same time for the alumni day tours in June of 2014.

“We want to make sure that recognition is done appropriately in a way that accurately and completely reflects the generosity of the many wonderful benefactors to the project. Some folks may still be making a gift in our final appeal and we want to make sure all names are included on recognition plaques.”

If you have not yet made a donation to the project and would like to do so, please contact the MSU Foundation at 701-788-4687 or e-mail michelle.mclean@mayvillestate.edu. You can also make gifts to the Larson Alumni and Leadership Center project by credit card online at www.mayvillestate.edu/alumnicenter. Make a gift and you’ll be invited to be one of the first to see the completed alumni center.

To learn more about how to sponsor an item or area in your family or loved one’s name, contact John Klocke at 701-788-4787 or e-mail him at john.j.klocke@mayvillestate.edu. He’ll be happy to help you create a fitting tribute.

Not only is the greenhouse providing exciting learning opportunities for the students, it also is helping to produce enough lettuce, tomatoes, and cucumbers to serve students and staff at lunch and for family and consumer science classes. This spring, the students also sold some of the plants they grew. To top it off, Hovde says the greenhouse helped to provide an attitude adjustment by showing life and color during a time when the snow banks and winter blues prevail.

Annual golf events in Detroit Lakes benefit Mayville State

Mayville State alumni and friends from near and far were in the Detroit Lakes area of Minnesota the second weekend in June for golfing and a time of socializing. This was the weekend of the MSU Golf Classic.

The festivities began with a 4-person scramble Friday, June 7 at Forest Hills Golf & RV Resort. This event was organized by the Mayville State University athletic department, and proceeds will go to athletic scholarships for Mayville State student athletes.

A Friday golf event, the Friday Classic, as it’s known, was started several years ago as a prelude to the traditional MSU Golf Classic. This year, a record 99 golfers participated. As usual, fun was had by all.

“General Manager Bruce Olson’s staff and course pro Peter Krier did an outstanding job again this year,” said MSU Athletic Director Mike Moore. “They really treat us well. It’s a great course for the event. This is our year for the tournament, and attendance has gone up each year. We couldn’t be happier with the work they do in hosting the tourney.”

Friday evening, Mayville State supporters gathered at the Detroit Country Club for a time of socializing and the annual scholarship event.

The 38th annual Mayville State University Golf Classic began with a shotgun start Saturday morning, June 8, at nine o’clock. The Golf Classic is the oldest medal play university golf tournament in the world. The Pine to Palm course provided a beautiful backdrop in which to play a game of golf and enjoy the company of Mayville State friends.

This year’s Golf Classic was one of the most successful in the 38 years of its existence. A total of $5,500 was raised. Of that amount, $1,000 has been designated for general honor and leadership scholarships for incoming Mayville State students. The balance of $4,500 will be used to purchase a touch screen recognition system that will be installed at Mayville State’s future alumni center.

The Mayville State Golf Classic has been of great benefit to Mayville State University over the years, as thousands of scholarship dollars, academic and athletic, have been donated to students pursuing their educational goals at Mayville State. In addition, the tournament has served as a place where Mayville State alumni and friends can meet and renew acquaintances. Year after year, people from near and far make the “Classic” their meeting place.

“We owe a huge debt of gratitude to MSU Golf Classic committee members Gene Gaffney, Denny Hopman, Del Hultgren, and Paul Maltrud, who have spearheaded this important event since its inception in 1976,” said MSU Director of Alumni Affairs Beth Swenson.

Curt Almlie, Roger Forsgren, Jim Hedstrom, Broc Lietz, Charlie Lindberg, and Chris Lindberg also volunteered their services to ensure that the tournament would be a success. The Goose River Bank of Mayville, Hillsboro, and Hatton, and The First and Farmers Bank of Mayville and Portland donated prizes for the longest drive, closest to the pin, and other contests. Mark Dokken coordinated this.

“Thank you to all who helped, golfed, or participated in any way,” said Swenson. “This event provides important support for Mayville State University and its students and we are truly grateful.”

Also on Saturday morning, Mayville State women gathered for brunch at the Holiday Inn in Detroit Lakes. Special guest was Debbie Hagen, wife of MSU President Dr. Gary Hagen. Debbie brought greetings on behalf of the university to about 20 women who gathered for a time of visiting and enjoying refreshments. Special thanks to Linda Engelman for organizing and hosting this event.

Make plans now to attend the 39th annual MSU Golf Classic and the Friday scramble on June 13 and 14, 2014. Remember, women are invited to participate in both of these golfing events.

Want to increase your charitable gift by 50%?

A million dollars of matching funds will reward Mayville State supporters’ gifts and pledges.

The 63rd North Dakota Legislative Assembly created an amazing new program to spur philanthropic giving to North Dakota State universities and enhance academic excellence. The new program and funding, called “The Matching Fund for Enhanced Academics,” will provide a 50% match for each and every dollar donated to the Mayville State University Foundation for approved projects between July 1, 2013 and December 31, 2014.

“We are incredibly grateful to the North Dakota legislators and to the grants committee for this fund for approving up to $1,000,000 in matching fund potential. This fund will be a transformative game-changer for Mayville State University,” said John J. Klocke, director of development for the Mayville State University Foundation.

Klocke added that the foresight of these legislators creates the possibility to elevate academics throughout the state. “We were pleased that three projects President Hagen and I presented to the grants committee on Aug. 5 were approved for our immediate fundraising.” The three parts of the fundraising will coincide with the 125th anniversary of Mayville State University, and together will be called the Mayville State University 125th Anniversary Foundation for Educational Excellence Campaign. The campaign will allow donors to contribute to one of three fund areas:

1. The 125th Anniversary Endowment for Excellence Fund. Individuals, businesses, and foundations can create a named endowment or contribute any amount from a dollar or more to an existing endowment through this program. Every dollar given, up to $1,333,333, will be given a 50% match, creating a potential for $2,000,000 in new endowment funding. This could allow for 60 or more new academic scholarships per year. Contributors can also make a pledge of up to seven years and have the entire pledge amount matched. Combine this program with the N.D. Endowment Tax Credit, which allows donors to receive a 40% state tax credit on endowment gifts of $5,000 or more, and donors can leverage philanthropy tremendously. Endowments can be academic or endowments to fund specific educational programs. (Non-athletic.)

2. The 125th Anniversary Academic Excellence Scholarship Fund. Individuals, businesses, and foundations can help fund this drive to create a higher number of annual academic scholarships to attract more students and fuel MSU’s continued new levels of high enrollment. Every dollar given, up to $133,500, will receive a 50% match, creating a potential of $200,000 to be awarded in 2014 or 2015, depending upon gift date. (Non-athletic.)

3. The 125th Anniversary Rural Nursing Excellence RN to BSN Fund. Individuals, businesses, and foundations can help fund this newly approved RN to BSN degree program. Every dollar given, up to $333,000, will be given a 50% match, creating a potential for $500,000 to develop, plan, staff, and accept nursing students by 2015 or sooner. This fund will carry the program to a level of self-sustainment. When fully functional and at capacity, the program will graduate 24-48 new nurses with BSN degrees each year to help alleviate the rural nursing shortage, especially in Traill County and throughout North Dakota.

“With our new program the potential to take MSU’s academic excellence to an entirely new level through the increased support this matching grant offers,” said MSU President Gary Hagen. “We are deeply grateful to the Legislature and look forward to the potential increase in philanthropy it will create.”

 Interested to know how you can participate with your gifts?

“To make a qualified eligible gift, there is one key qualifier,” said Klocke. “A special gift form indicating that the gift is to one of the 125th Anniversary Campaign
Alumni and friends benefit MSU students at new record levels

As the director of development for the past year-and-a-half, it is with deepest thanks that I make a report to our loyal Comet alumni and friends. There is so much good news, it’s hard to know where to start, so I’ll start with you. As alumni and friends, more than 1,200 of you made gifts to our scholarship drives, memorial program, phonathons, annual fund drive, endowments, Comet Athletic Club, Music Makers Club, Victory Program, and Comet Connections for Business. Many also gave to the completion of the renovation phase of Larson Alumni and Leadership Center. Thank you!

One hundred percent of our executive board, 100% of our trustees, and 100% of our MSU President’s Cabinet made significant gifts to support MSU. Nationally, 10-15% is the average percentage of employees who make a gift to support the work of their own non-profit. At MSU? Try 45%! Thank you, faculty, staff, Cabinet, and members of our board! It all starts with your example, and you have led the way.

The beginning of the 2012-2013 fiscal year started off with a $340,000 gift from the Margaret and Edson Larson Foundation to help complete the Larson Alumni and Leadership Center, which, as I look out the window, now is really taking shape, with sidewalks being poured and a new electrical transformer being hoisted onto the property. Soon the reality of a home for alumni to meet and greet will be a reality!

Many of you took advantage of the North Dakota Endowment Tax Credit and either increased an existing endowment fund or started a new one with a gift of $5,000 or more, and to your benefit, received a 40% state tax credit.

Several of you took advantage of the IRA Charitable Gift Rollover Act which runs through the end of this year and allows donors to take out up to $100,000 a year from an IRA without paying any income tax on the distribution. Combine this with the N.D. Endowment Tax Credit, and you have made some serious impact for students.

And now on top of all this good news comes the North Dakota Higher Education Challenge Fund that provides up to one million dollars of matching funds for your gifts in the coming 18 months! That is so generous it’s hard to fathom. The details to how your gifts this year can receive a 50% match are in an article on pages 29 and 31.

Hundreds of you visited our new planned giving website at www.msugift.org and learned important things for your family on the subject of getting a will or estate plan done. Still others visited the site and inquired about our new gift annuity program that provides very nice guaranteed lifetime rates of income return as high as 9% a year.

So, we started with you and your generosity. Add to that a team of dedicated MSU Foundation professionals including Beth Swenson, Michelle McLean, and Meghan Hovde, all working to help students achieve the dream of education.

Our faculty are the best in the region. Their personal attention to students has gained them national notoriety. Yet some students still need to find a way to say “yes” to Mayville State University recruiters like Jim Morowski or Carmen Pena. Sometimes, despite the fact that we have one of the most affordable rates of tuition in the state, scholarships are often the difference-maker for students who could not otherwise afford to go to college.

It all comes back to you. This year your generosity helped 350 students receive a scholarship of some amount. Because of you, $464,707 was awarded in scholarships, and for every one of the dollars you gave to the annual fund drive, our staff was able to raise six more! Now that is impact! We are just getting started with a new day at the MSU Foundation. Thanks to you, more than $950,000 was raised to support students and faculty at Mayville State University. You helped us become and retain the title of “School of Personal Service!”

With the upcoming celebration of our 125th anniversary, the future is looking so bright I think I better get out my shades. Give me a call and set up a time to stop by and visit. The coffee pot is always on.

Thankfully yours,

John J. Klocke
Director of Development

Planned gift spotlight: the charitable gift annuity

Do you know what your annual income will be at retirement?

You may be placing your hopes in Social Security or funding an IRA or 401k plan, but your investments are subject to market fluctuations and may not get you to your target income. One way to have certainty about your future is to create a charitable gift annuity.

A gift annuity can be created by transferring your cash or appreciated property to the MSU Foundation. We create a contract with you and promise to pay you fixed income, starting now or in the future. Your payments never change, and a portion of your income could be tax-free.

How does a gift annuity work? Let's say you are 78 years old. Your gift annuity rate is 6.4%. If you fund a charitable gift annuity with $10,000, you will receive $640 every year for the rest of your life. When that same charitable gift annuity is funded with $100,000, your lifetime income could be $6,400 annually. If you transfer $1,000,000, your income could rise to $64,000 annually.

In addition to cash, a gift annuity can be funded with securities or even hard-to-sell real estate. One idea is to exchange your underperforming CDs, stocks, or municipal bonds for the generous fixed payment of a charitable gift annuity this year.

The benefits of creating a charitable gift annuity this year don’t stop with the income. You will enjoy a charitable tax deduction. The larger your gift annuity income, the more you can receive tax-free. Call or e-mail us to inquire about your gift annuity rate (based on your age) and your income and tax savings. With a gift annuity, you can enjoy a lifetime of dependable payments while helping the MSU Foundation continue its good work.

To learn more about gift annuities and find out what guaranteed rate you would qualify for based on your age, call John Klocke at 701-788-4787, visit the MSU planned giving website at www.msugift.org, or fill out and return the request form found in this issue of MSU Today.

Funds is required so that a proper totaling of gifts can be done. Optionally, a donor can write the name of the campaign fund area as indicated above on the memo line of their gift, in lieu of the gift form. Klocke is also available to meet with MSU alumni and friends to help with the creation of new endowment funds or making gifts to increase existing endowment funds. To qualify, gifts must be given after July 1 of this year through December 31, 2014. Gift pledges to the three funds of up to seven years are also acceptable.

“We are extremely excited for the potential this gives to our supporters who may want to create a named endowment,” said Klocke. “Our minimum is $15,000 for a named endowment. With this program, a gift of $10,000 pledged over a period of up to seven years will receive a 50% match, thus bringing the endowment to a fully funded level.”

For the convenience of our alumni and friends, a special gift form for the 125th Anniversary Academic Excellence Campaign is available online or by calling the MSU Foundation office at 701-788-4687 or by e-mailing michelle.mclean@mayvillestate.edu. Simply write down your immediate or pledged gift and check the fund or funds you would like your gift to benefit. By December 31, 2014, all gifts given to one of the funds will receive the 50% match.

For more information, call John Klocke at 701-788-4787 or e-mail him at john.j.klocke@mayvillestate.edu.

Join the Blue Crew!

Would you like to help the Mayville State University Foundation on fun projects and events as we work to help students achieve the dream of a college education? Maybe the Blue Crew is for you! If you are age 15 to 100, you could be a member of our new volunteer group called “The Blue Crew.” The MSU Foundation is always looking for alumni or friends from the community who could help with special events, or perhaps office work for a mailing, or data entry on a computer. The needs vary, and we can guarantee you will have a good experience and be treated well for your gift of time.

We realize that the gift of time is a preferred way for many folks to make a difference, and the MSU Foundation can definitely make use of that type of help on a variety of projects throughout the year. If you’d like to find out more, call Michelle McLean, donor services representative, at the Foundation office, 701-788-4687, or you can send her an e-mail at michelle.mclean@mayvillestate.edu. Let her know what type of volunteering you are interested in and how many hours you have to share, and she’ll see what opportunities might fit. The Blue Crew would love to have you!
As the second year of the new Music Makers club wrapped up, it was clear that music scholarships ended on a new high note. This meant that more than 80 students in band or choir received a scholarship. That is 100% of students in band or choir. Music Makers made it possible for audiences to attend fantastic fall, holiday, and spring concerts. Comments from many concert attendees included, “Mike Bakken has taken these kids to a level of performance we have not seen before!” “Way to go, Mike, and staff, for making music ring throughout the halls of MSU!”

As the year wrapped up on June 30, more than 60 donors gave over $43,327. Of that amount, $21,000 was given to permanent music endowments to help students add the dimension of music to their MSU experience. This year, in addition to the regular concerts, the Madrigal Feast, performed every other year, will be a holiday classic you won’t want to miss. The Madrigal Feasts will be performed Dec. 6 and 7, and tickets will be available to parents, the general public, and alumni by going to www.mayvillestate.edu/madrigal. Check out this year’s menu and performance time. This is always a sell-out, so order early! You can also order tickets by calling 701-788-4687.

The annual Music Makers’ goal is $25,000 in annual support. See who all of our wonderful supporters for last year’s campaign were at www.mayvillestate.edu/musicmakers.
